MADDOX DEMANDS
MILLER RETRACT
CHARGES AGAINST
PUPILS' MORALS

Head of Schools Makes Reply to Police Commissioner's Statement at King's Highway Christian Church of Alleged Immoral Organizations.

JOHN C. TOBIN CALLS
REMARKS OUTRAGEOUS

Other Educational Officials Condemn Utterances—Miller Withholds Name of School Wherein Reported Organizations Exist.

John J. Maddox, Superintendent of Schools, today demanded that Victor J. Miller, president of the Police Board, prove or retract his statement, made last night at the King's Highway Christian Church, regarding moral conditions in one of the St. Louis high schools. Miller, in his church talk, said:

I have learned on good authority that there is an organization of girls students in one of our high schools founded upon the entrance requirement that each member must have had an intimate relationship with a boy.

I know—I know that such an organization with similar membership requirements exists among boy students at the same school. Just think of it! My information has so convinced me that I have detailed six men and women officers to work on the case.

Statement by Maddox. Sup't. Maddox's statement is: "I am sorry to learn that St. Louis has even one citizen who claims to have such information in his possession and fails to give it to the Board of Education. It should be known publicly that this gentleman has never even intimated to the school authorities that he knows of any such conditions as he pictured in his address."

"It is a serious reflection on the characters of 13,000 of the finest and purest boys and girls in America. The parents of these children should rise up in indignation and support the Superintendent of Instruction and the Board of Education in demanding that these charges be proved or the statements retracted."

John C. Tobin, president of the Board of Education, said: "The charges are outrageous. If there was any basis for them, Mr. Miller should have referred them to the Board of Education for investigation, before making them publicly. The charges are an insult to the students and their parents. I am going to call upon Mr. Miller to retract the charges to the Board of Education, and present such facts as he may have in support of them."

John Rush Powell, principal of Bolan High School, said: "I am amazed at Mr. Miller's statement. I do not wish to infer that what he said is not true, nor am I affirming the truth of his remarks. I am dumbfounded."

Wants Facts Made Public. "Mr. Miller is a public official, and in view of the serious charges that he makes, it is incumbent on him to disclose the full facts. He should immediately tell what school he refers to and make public any and all evidence that he may possess. If there is immorality in the schools, it must go."

"No one would welcome disclosure of the full facts more than I. The Board of Education should have all the evidence Mr. Miller has gathered."

"I do know this, that we take the utmost care of our students between the hours of 8:30 a. m. and 3:30 p. m., but during the other hours of the day it becomes the parents' duty to guard their boys and girls."

Again I say, let us have all the facts.

Armand R. Miller, principal of McKinley High School, said: "I cannot believe that Mr. Miller's statement is correct. It is a statement which ought not to be made without having all the facts in one's possession. Such facts, if one has them, should be presented first of all to the school authorities. Now that Mr. Miller has made this state-

U. S. DEMANDS $241,000,000
FROM GERMAN PAYMENTS

Claim for Expenses in Connection With Occupation of Rhineland Presented to Allied Ministers.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, March 10.—A demand from the United States that $241,000,000 for its expenses in connection with the occupation of the Rhineland be paid before any reparations were paid was presented to the allied finance ministers at their meeting this morning.

The distribution of this year's German payments, it is learned on good authority, already was virtually decided on before the American note was received. The total is not to exceed $600,000,000 gold marks, and the ratio of sharing this amount is practically the same as was decided upon at the recent meeting of the Supreme Council at Cannes.

According to this schedule France would receive 52 per cent of the payment and Great Britain 22 per cent. The appraised value of the Saar Valley coal mines, estimated at 300,000,000 gold marks, is charged against France's receipts.

A high allied authority said this afternoon that the American claim for the expenses of the American forces in Germany was a matter for the consideration of the Reparations Commission, which is directly charged with the collection and distribution of Germany's payments. Thus far the commission has accepted modifications of the term of payment suggested by the allied powers. The American claim, however, may modify the distribution of this year's payments.

The question of extending the scope of the Wiesbaden reparations agreement between France and Germany, so as to make Germany's payments in kind applicable to all the allies, occupied today's session of the Ministers.

The point at issue is the amount of deliveries Germany should make to France for the devastated regions, some of the allies desiring to limit the amount to 300,000,000 gold marks' worth of material, no as to leave part of Germany's capacity for payments in kind available for the other allies, Belgium, Italy and Great Britain.

The Finance Ministers were understood to have agreed to limit the future demands on Germany for the expenses of military occupation to 220,000,000 gold marks annually.

Secretary Hughes Refuses to Comment on U. S. Demand.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Secretary Hughes refused today to comment on the news from Paris that representatives of the United States Government had presented a demand to the allied finance ministers that expenses, aggregating $241,000,000, incurred by the United States in the occupation of the Rhineland, be paid before any reparations. There was nothing that could be said on the subject at this time, Hughes declared.

Press dispatches from Paris recently indicated that the allied foreign ministers were preparing to apportion the German reparations payment without regard to the claims of the American Government. At that time it was said by Secretary Hughes that the United States felt it had a just claim and expected that its claim would be met. He denied then, however, that any steps were being taken by this Government to assure a share in the division of German reparations. That $241,000,000 would not completely satisfy the claims of the American Government growing out of the maintenance of the American forces in Germany was indicated by statements compiled by the War Department Claims Board. These show the gross cost of the Rhine forces from Nov. 11, 1918 to Sept. 30, 1921, to have been $240,339,542, after deducting credits to Germany of $35,885,000 on account of funds obtained by the United States since the armistice. Since Sept. 30, 1921, it was estimated by officials today, there has accrued expenses of approximately $9,000,000 on account of the army of occupation, and it was said that the present forces in Germany would cost this Government $4,000,000 each quarter. Included in the charges against Germany are costs of the American section of the inter-allied Rhineland High Commission, whose gross expenses in the armistice from May 1, 1919, to Sept. 30, 1921, were $375,306.

A woman who answered the doorbell at the Hightower home told of his worries since the failure of the Night and Day Bank. She said the family came to St. Louis from Texas two years ago.

At the bank today it was said that Hightower called about a week ago and inquired when he could expect to get his money, and was informed that it was impossible to give him the information he sought. There was nothing in his manner to attract attention, employees said.

It will be remembered that a woman depositor in the Night and Day Bank, whose name was not made public, attempted to kill herself by drinking poison in the bank Feb. 10, when she called there to inquire about when she could expect to get $2400 she had on deposit. It was the balance of her husband's life insurance after the expenses of the funeral were paid. The bottle of acid was taken from her by Frank J. Herbers, head of the Depositors' Committee, which has been attempting to reorganize the bank.

STRUCTURAL IRON
WORKERS ACCEPT
15 PCT. WAGE CUT

Reduction Is From $1.25 to $1.06 1/4 an Hour, Effective April 1, and to Continue for Year.

The Bridge and Structural Ironworkers Union, No. 18, last night voted to accept a wage reduction of 15 per cent, from $1.25 to $1.06 1/4 an hour, effective April 1, and continuing for one year. About 600 men are affected.

This is the third union of the building trades to reduce wages from the basic scale of $1.25 an hour. The other two are the Painters' and Decorators' unions, which have agreed to reduce wages as the first means of lowering building costs.

The other unions which reduced wages are the Painters' and Decorators' unions, which have agreed to reduce wages as the first means of lowering building costs. The union, which has been insisting on a flat reduction of 20 per cent as proposed for all crafts in the building trades, which was rejected by the unions in a referendum vote, but the ironworkers stood firm against this proposal and the committee was reached in committee and submitted to a vote of the local last night.

A. J. Widmer, chairman of the Arbitration Committee of the Master Builders' Association, said it was hoped the action of the ironworkers would influence the other trades to reduce wages, so that building projects aggregating $15,000,000 to $20,000,000, being held back by high costs, may be started with the open season for building operations, which is now beginning.

Committee Being Formed. Civic and commercial organizations are at work on the formation of a citizens' committee through which it is hoped to induce the unions of the building trades to reduce

NIGHT AND DAY
BANK DEPOSITOR
ENDS LIFE IN PARK

C. A. Hightower Had Worried Since Failure of Institution, Members of His Family Say.

SEVERES ARTERIES
WITH RAZOR BLADE

Body, Found Near Valley and Government Drives, Identified by Name Engraved on Wedding Ring.

Clayton A. Hightower, 33 years old, formerly a clerk, but more recently employed making braces at the Children's Hospital, killed himself yesterday or this morning near Valley and Government drives in Forest Park. At his home, 4354 Clarence avenue, it was stated that he had been worried by the failure of the Night and Day Bank, in which he had $223 on deposit. When his body was found there were only a few cents in his pockets.

His body, identified by his wedding ring which was engraved with his name, and from papers in his pocket, was discovered shortly before noon by Matt Busman of 4322 Page boulevard, who was driving in the park, and whose dog came across the body and barked. An artery in the left elbow had been severed and the left wrist had been cut with a safety razor blade.

A note written on the back of a letter notifying him to appear to take a Masonic degree, contained the statement that he feared he was losing his mind, and that he had not the strength to "continue the fight." It was addressed to "Charlotte," presumably his wife.

The police were notified yesterday that he was missing from his home, and were asked to inform Miss Georgia de Lew, a teacher at the William Jessup Open-Air School, if they obtained her home. When notified of his death at the school Miss de Lew said she was going to his home to be with his wife.

A woman who answered the doorbell at the Hightower home told of his worries since the failure of the Night and Day Bank. She said the family came to St. Louis from Texas two years ago.

At the bank today it was said that Hightower called about a week ago and inquired when he could expect to get his money, and was informed that it was impossible to give him the information he sought. There was nothing in his manner to attract attention, employees said.

SAYS SHE LOVED
KENNEDY WHEN SHE
WED OBENCHAIN

Mrs. Obenchain, Under Cross-Examination, Tells of Planning Separation Shortly After Wedding.

ENGAGED TO BROKER,
SHE DECLARES

Defendant in Murder Case More Hesitant in Making Replies Than When Under Direct Questioning.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 10.—Mrs. Madalynne Connor Obenchain, pale and somewhat nervous, took the stand again today, being cross-examined by the State on her story of yesterday of her love for J. Belton Kennedy and his death by shooting in her trial on a charge of murdering him. She assumed a position in the witness chair so she could face the jury.

That it was in the case of Kennedy, love at first sight, was indicated by Mrs. Obenchain in her responses to the first questions of the cross-examination by Asa Keyes, Deputy District Attorney. She testified she first met Kennedy at her mother's home here in 1917 when he was showing property to a relative. They met several times soon thereafter, and the second or third time he mentioned love to her, she testified.

Tells of Engagement. "Belton said that he cared for me, but was under obligations to another girl," she testified. It was the summer of 1918 that Kennedy first asked her to marry him, she said. She gave her consent Aug. 31, 1918.

The engagement continued five months, she said. Ralph Obenchain, former school chum, arrived in Los Angeles Dec. 24, 1918. The day following Christmas she telephoned to Kennedy and broke the engagement, a week before her marriage to Obenchain.

The reason for breaking the engagement with Kennedy, she said, was that, in her opinion, the home conditions of Kennedy made marriage impossible. She said that during the engagement the relations between her family and the family of Kennedy were friendly.

Phrases of two love letters from Mrs. Obenchain to Kennedy were read by the Deputy District Attorney. These letters were dated Feb. 4 and 15, 1919.

"My love, my life is yours; it won't be long before I can come to you," was read as one of her phrases in the letters. The prosecutor asked what she meant in writing that.

"I meant that Belton had induced me to leave Ralph," Mrs. Obenchain replied.

LOVED KENNEDY, WED OBENCHAIN.

In response to questions she said that she had been in love with Kennedy at the time she married Obenchain.

Objections of separation from Obenchain were held with Kennedy shortly after her marriage to Obenchain, she testified. In June, 1919, Kennedy suggested that she obtain an annulment. She was hesitant in assenting today, in striking comparison with the composure and facility with which she responded to her attorney yesterday.

One of the February letters was signed by Mrs. Obenchain. "Your forsaken wife," the prosecutor asked her what she meant by the phrase. She answered that it was meant as an endearing term. That she had never been married to Kennedy.

PARTS OF LETTER READ.

The prosecutor read from a letter dated May 15, 1919, from Mrs. Obenchain to Kennedy: "Must we patiently sit and wait? No, Belton, no. Don't let the conventions of the earth deny our happiness."

"What did you mean by that?" the prosecutor asked.

"I meant that I never believed in divorce," she replied.

Mrs. Obenchain later was in Los Angeles and returned to Chicago Oct. 7, upon which date she sent the following telegram to Kennedy: "Am certain will get annulment this month. Please come this month or sooner if you can."

She said that this meant that she expected Kennedy to come to Chicago to marry her. His answer was that he was seriously ill, she testified.

The prosecutor then examined her as to her visit here January, 1921. She said that she had no idea of seeing Kennedy when she came here, her visit being merely for her health and to see old friends. She did see Kennedy later in an effort to obtain

MAKER OF FIRST
"TEDDY BEAR" FOR WOMEN BANKRUPT

Too Much Competition Disastrous to Inventor of Women's Garment.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, March 10.—Competition has proved the death of trade for Theodore Bear, the inventor of that frivolous garment known to women as the "Teddy Bear." Bear is a manufacturer of women's linens. The "Teddy" made an immediate hit and Bear's shop was swamped with orders. There was no part of the garment that was patentable, however, and soon other manufacturers began to turn out Bear's pet in large quantities.

The "Teddy" became nationally famous almost overnight. Business was rushing for Bear, but when the imitators got busy, Bear's business languished.

Now, according to Bear, every manufacturer in the country is making them, and he has been forced to the wall.

Yesterday, his creditors went into the Federal Court with a petition in involuntary bankruptcy. The credit-ors say Bear's assets will cover his liabilities in just about the same proportion as a "Teddy Bear" covers its wearer—33 1-3 per cent.

WITNESS FOR GOVERNMENT IN
BOX CAR THEFTS SHOT TO DEATH

By the Associated Press. FORT WORTH, Tex., March 10.—C. A. Barngrove, star witness for the Federal Government in a series of box car theft trials, which were to have started in the Federal Court Monday, was shot to death this afternoon in the Fort Worth & Denver Railroad yards. The killing is a mystery.

Barngrove was also the star witness for the Government in another series of cases that were tried at the last term of Federal Court here and resulted in many convictions.

100 POUNDS OF DRUGS SEIZED

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 10.—One hundred pounds of narcotics and one alleged drug vender were taken by the police in a raid on the headquarters of a drug-peddling gang believed to have engaged in the wholesale smuggling of the habit-forming poisons. The drugs seized were valued by Federal officials at $500,000, vendors' prices.

Luigi Farmaciani, 39 years old, a grocer, was arrested. A pass book was found in the house, the officers said, showing that Farmaciani had made savings deposits totaling $165,000 since March, 1921.

ELECTROCUTION OF
NEGRO EFFECTED
ON 12TH ATTEMPT

"Electrician Inexperienced," Reason Given for 11 Failures in Execution of Arkansas Convict, 18.

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 10.—James Wells, 18 years old, negro murderer, died early this morning in the electric chair at the State penitentiary after 11 unsuccessful attempts had been made by an inexperienced State employee to electrocute him. The twelfth attempt, according to witnesses, was successful.

Going to the chair singing and without assistance he continued to sing until the first charge was sent through his body. After the current had been permitted to remain on a few moments it was taken off and Wells was examined by the State physicians who pronounced him alive. Another charge was sent through his body with the same result. Witnesses began to leave the room and convicts who assisted in strapping Wells in the chair also departed.

Only a few witnesses were present when Wells was finally pronounced dead by the State physician. Fully 20 minutes were consumed in putting the negro to death.

Wells was convicted of killing Peter Trenz, a German farmer, near Monticello. Wells was one of those who escaped with Tom Slaughter.

By the Associated Press. JUNCTION CITY, Kan., March 10.—Eastbound Union Pacific passenger train No. 102 was reported lost in the snow between here and Abilene, Kan., at 9 a. m. today. No word had been received from the train for five hours and all westbound trains were being held here.

A heavy four-hour rain in this section turned to snow shortly after last midnight, and approximately six inches covered the ground this morning. Many telephone and light wires are down. The soggy snow clung to trees, snapping off many branches.

MONTAGU'S POST
REPORTED OFFERED
TO EARL OF DERBY

Should He Refuse Indian Secretaryship Duke of Devonshire May Be Named.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, March 10.—Removal of Lord Reading as Viceroy of India, it is believed in some quarters, will be the denouement to the publication of the Indian Government's note. There is nothing tangible on which to base this belief, but it is not improbable as a sequel to the virtual dismissal of Edwin S. Montagu as Secretary for India.

The probable effect in India of Montagu's resignation is the subject of much curiosity, and the effect some misgivings lest the removal of the champion of Indian political reform have a dangerous repercussion there.

Equally momentous from the domestic political point of view is the effect the whole affair may have on the fortunes of the Government, especially as to the position of Prime Minister Lloyd George. Some believe the chances that the Premier will make good his threatened resignation have been considerably increased and that if he also takes the view that American abstention from the Genoa conference lessens the prospect of the success there, the country may soon learn of his definite retirement.

It is still unknown whether he intends to begin his holiday today, but in view of the threatened outlook in the engineering and ship building trades, it is thought likely the evil genius which prevented his attending the Washington conference will again upset his arrangements.

Montagu's Successor Discussed. The successor to Secretary Montagu must be appointed soon, in view of the dangerous situation in India, but the post is difficult to fill.

The Earl of Derby, former Secretary of War, has been offered the secretaryship in succession to Montagu, according to reports in the parliamentary lobbies today. In the event of Lord Derby's refusal the Duke of Devonshire is mentioned as the likely appointee.

The Duke is a Conservative, and should he be chosen, it would make the third replacement of a Liberal Minister by a Conservative within 12 days. This would give the Cabinet an emphatically conservative complexion, which would become still more pronounced if the rank and file of that party brings about retirement of H. A. L. Fisher as Minister of Education and the appointment of a Conservative in his place, for which there is now some indication.

Press Views of Retirement. All the newspapers give prominence to the Montagu incident and comment on his retirement.

WOMEN ROBBED IN UNIVERSITY CITY CARD PARTY HOLDUP

One Player at Home of Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, 6311 North Drive, Relieved of Fur Valued at $3200.

$2000 IN MONEY AND JEWELRY TAKEN

Stockings of Women Searched by 3 Masked Men in Robbery About 11 O'Clock Wednesday Night

Three armed, masked men broke in upon a card party of six women and three men in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, 6311 North Drive, University City, Wednesday night at 11 o'clock and escaped with money and jewelry valued at $2000 and a mink diamond valued at $3200.

Despite a search that extended to some of the women's stockings and into the bosoms of their gowns, they overlooked money and diamonds valued at $2000 which were secreted by three of them.

Mrs. J. M. Goldsmith of the Delmonte Hotel, 5420 Delmar boulevard, was the owner of the diamond. She lost also a diamond ring valued at $400, a wedding ring, and $40 in cash.

Mrs. Moore L. Solomon of the Georgetown Court apartments, 5600 Kingsbury boulevard, gave over $435 in cash. She saved a diamond ring she valued at $1500, having wrapped it in a piece of paper earlier in the evening because its setting had become loose.

Woman Put Ring in Shoe. Jacob Silberman of 5309 Delmar boulevard lost a sum he would not name and diamonds he would not appraise for the police. Mrs. Silberman stuffed a diamond ring into her shoe and it was overlooked by the robbers.

A member of the party, who declined to give the police her name, but who, others among the guests said, was Mrs. Carrie Cramer, tossed a purse containing between $50 and $75 under the card table and found it for the robbers' departure.

A man identified only as "Klein" lost $150 in cash and an unnamed woman lost a small sum in cash. The robbery entered the home, which is a two-story flat building, presumably by passkeys, one for the front door opening into a hallway and one for a door leading into Mrs. Campbell's flat.

Robber Demanded Diamonds. Mrs. Campbell and one of her guests said that the game, which was in progress in the dining room, was bridge. Two other guests said it was poker but did not state the "poker."

Mrs. Cramer had arisen from the table to go to an adjoining bedroom when she was confronted in the doorway by a tall man with a revolver in either hand and a mask over his eyes. He pushed Mrs. Cramer back into the dining room and said:

"Hands up, everyone," and being obeyed, continued: "Now, where is the woman with all those diamonds?"

Mrs. Solomon said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that she had no doubt that it was her custom at similar parties to wear jewelry which she valued at between $2,000 and $3,000. She said that, inexplicably, she placed her jewelry in a vault before going to Mrs. Campbell's party.

"She's not here," someone said in response to the robber's inquiry. He ordered that money and jewelry be placed on the table, and when this was done, another of the robbers, holding a revolver in one hand, began to search men and women alike. When he had finished, he went into the adjoining bedroom where the wraps of the guests lay, many furs among them.

Threat to Cut Up Furs. "If you don't tell where those diamonds are, we'll cut up those furs," he said angrily, upon returning to the dining room.

He then searched the party. Mrs. Goldsmith said that she had $25 in bills in her stocking, but that though the robber ran his hand rapidly over the stocking, he did not find the money. She said also that he searched the bosoms of the women's gowns. "He was not rough, though," she added.

The second search seemed to convince them that there was nothing more of value to be had and the trio ran out. Neighbors said they departed in an automobile, the lights of which were out.

Home Robbed Previously. Mrs. Campbell recalled that her home was robbed twice in the last three years during her absence. She wore no jewelry Wednesday night and lost nothing.

She was arrested in 1914 by the St. Louis police suspected of operating a poker game in her home at 105 North Newstead avenue. The charge later was dismissed and Mrs. Campbell sued the Board of Police Commissioners and officers in the department for $10,000 damages, eventually abandoning the suit.

Leader of Self-Rule Forces in India Whose Arrest Is Ordered

MAHATMA (SAINT) GANDHI.

ARREST OF GANDHI TO BE ORDERED BY BRITISH

Conservative press raises peana of joy, but it is noteworthy that the Liberal newspapers agree that the arrest of the Indian leader is a necessary step.

The Daily News, one of his warmest supporters, while expressing sorrow at the retirement of "one of the best Secretaries of State India ever had," says:

"The difficulty of the Moslem problem in India hardly justifies wanton complication of the no less difficult situation in the Near East and cannot justify the formal announcement to France that our policy in Asia Minor is determined by the exigencies of our position in India."

In this criticism the News includes Lord Reading, former Secretary of State for India, and another ardent supporter of Montagu, condemns him on similar grounds. The Times, while approving his removal, says:

"The circumstances which led to his resignation reveal a deplorable lack of co-ordination in the Government which must now give proof of its power to deal coherently and firmly with the great issues of the imperial policy or give place to some administration less dangerously divided against itself."

Lord Reading's action in publishing the Indian Government's note is interpreted as an intention to force the hand of the Imperial Government.

Lord Reading, desiring to publish the offending document, sought permission of the Secretary for India, who technically is his superior, to make the statement public in India. Montagu, without consulting the Cabinet, and while the Prime Minister was ill, gave permission, and Lord Reading had the statement published in India. It was then telegraphed to the British press.

Montagu's Cabinet colleagues take the ground that he should have withheld permission, and simply brought the matter to the attention of the Premier and Cabinet for their mature consideration.

Lloyd George Amazed at Story. A story is current that the Prime Minister, while looking over the morning papers, was amazed to read the India document. He immediately summoned Secretary Montagu and other Ministers to Downing street. It was unanimously decided that Montagu could not properly retain office. Thereupon the Premier sent to Montagu a formal request for his resignation.

It is understood that the remaining members of the Cabinet later endorsed the action taken, holding that Montagu was not entitled to permit publication, with every appearance of Government sanction, of a document advocating a deliberate reversal of a policy undertaken in concert with Great Britain's allies.

The announcement of Secretary Montagu's resignation was received in the House of Commons with fervent welcoming cheers from a majority of the members.

There was a rush for the telephone among members of the party. It was found to have been disconnected. An alarm was given from a neighbor's phone to the University City police.

Home Robbed Previously. Mrs. Campbell recalled that her home was robbed twice in the last three years during her absence. She wore no jewelry Wednesday night and lost nothing.

HUGHES ASSAILED BY ROBINSON IN DEBATE ON TREATY

Arkansas Senator Says Secretary Denied to Correspondents That He Knew of Plan for Pact.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Renewing his charge that the four-Power Pacific treaty was negotiated "secretly," Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, declared on the Senate floor today that while the negotiations were in progress Secretary Hughes, as head of the American delegation had misled the newspaper correspondents and through them the press of the country by denying that he knew of any such plan.

Correspondents, who were assigned to the conference, the Arkansas Senator said, not only were unable to obtain any authoritative information as to what was going on, but many of them suffered professional injury because they had placed credence in what Mr. Hughes told them.

PRINCES AND PRINCESSES IN RUSSIA AVAILABLE FOR ADOPTION ABROAD

MOSCOW, March 10.—LITTLE Princes and Princesses in Russia, for adoption by wealthy foreigners. The parents, where there are any, are willing, even anxious, to let their children go because of their own poverty and inability properly to care for and educate them.

The mother of Little Chad Khan, Prince Kadiar, a near-pretender to the throne of Persia, is one of the many who are willing to part with their sons. Prince Kadiar's great-grandfather was one of two brothers who disputed the Persian throne.

The correspondent has been told by many such mothers that, unless they find some means of getting their children abroad, the careers of the little ones will be ruined. If ever private property is returned to the original owners, these children will recover vast estates.

dances in which I have been a participant would be a disgrace to civilization. At private dances, as a rule, the party usually gets together before the dance begins, and therein to be found the source of the evil.

This is a fruitful field for investigation, but the police can only supervise. The chances are that if arrests were made in such cases it would be most difficult to prosecute. Anyhow, there are 156 less patrolmen than in 1927, and so many duties are being added to police work that the police soon will be required to wash dogs and care for babies. Besides making $8,000 arrests last year, the police performed 267,000 miscellaneous duties.

To Miller the evil of the dance hall does not compare in magnitude to that of the moving picture showing the successful criminal and expensively attired wicked women and so-called vampires. For the small boy, he said, is nearly always fascinated by the venturesome life of the screen criminal, while the department store girl, as he said, is dazzled by pretty clothes, and says to herself: "Why should I get down to the store at 5 o'clock and break my neck for a bare pittance, while there is a woman, no better looking than I, getting away with the big stuff."

Example of Some Pictures. Some pictures, he said, put forth the criminal in heroic roles and show the policeman as a dunce or a clown, thus creating in the youth's mind a contempt for the law. There have been crimes in St. Louis, he added, that closely resembled in detail of execution some of the exploits of criminals on the screen.

Miller continued, but not in so great measure as the screen plays, while newspaper accounts of crimes, especially of robberies, detailing how a few robbers enter a bank and come out a moment later in possession of large sums of money, tempt the youth to emulate such careers, he said.

"I'd start an investigation of the newspapers," also," he continued. "They have a corrupting effect. Why is it that each time there is a robbery, the headlines are careful to give the exact amount of money stolen? But when the police capture the robbers and they are sentenced to the penitentiary, you can hardly find the little item. The art of handiwork is made to seem an easy thing, and that is why I believe so many boys try their hand at it."

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

terfere with the police investigation and "let the students get away with it." Mrs. Louis Brooks, president of the Board of Religious Organizations, preceded Miller with a statement of co-operation by the church in the work of the organization, stating that the only way to put the fear of God into the politicians who are delinquent in law enforcement was to roll up a big vote against them at election time. Unless men in office stand for what the church stands for, she said, we won't have law enforcement.

Information upon which Mrs. Caldwell's report was made was gathered by herself and Mrs. Edward C. Dixon, Mrs. William W. Spear, Mrs. C. M. H. Todd, Mrs. Bessie W. Todd, Mrs. Charles Blayney and Mrs. E. L. Nicholl, assisted by a number of other investigators working under their direction.

The report, as told in detail in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, condemned public and semi-private dances, without supervision and conducted without regulation by the dance hall ordinance, as inimical to the police, and specified "check to check" and "neck to neck" postures in dancing as particularly objectionable.

"Exaggerated jazz dancing," the report said, was a "herald of the underworld," and the employment of girls as dancers, and the made at parties in hotel hotels, four instances of which the committee had seen, was denounced as dangerous to the girlhood of the city.

Comment on the Movie. Moving picture plays having their themes sex problems and crime were also condemned as contributing factors to delinquency in young people, while scenes ridiculing police work were also disapproved as promoting a disrespect of those employed to enforce the law.

Strict enforcement of the dance hall ordinance, together with the posting of rules and regulations for proper dancing in the halls, was recommended as essential to improved conditions for the law.

A rumor has been current that girls recently had been dismissed from a high school for moral reasons. The principal of this school today denied the report. "It is without foundation in fact," he said, "and has a definite record of dismissal, and not one girl has been dismissed for moral reasons."

Waterbury Co. to Buy Ingersoll. NEW YORK, March 10.—Subject to the approval of court, the property and assets of Robert H. Ingersoll & Bros., which recently went into bankruptcy, will be sold to the Waterbury Clock Co. for $1,500,000 cash. It was announced yesterday by Edward H. Childs, trustee in bankruptcy.

"We have not done so; it will be time enough when we get the whole thing cleaned up," he answered. "Just quote what I said in my address, and that will be enough for the time being."

School Name Withheld. When asked to what high school he referred, Miller gave his name, but not for publication. Today, over the telephone, he said he did not wish to give the name of the high school, as that would infringe on the privacy of the students.

$7000 PAYROLL HOLDUP THWARTS TWO MEN CAUGHT

Detectives Trail Bell Phone Paymaster's After Agent Has "Hunch" of Trouble at Exchange

ROBBERS FLEE WHEN POLICE CAR STOPPED

Two Men Overtaken Chase, One With Volter; Second With Thrown Away by Police, Found.

A $7000 payroll robbery thwarted by a "hunch" yesterday, two of seven robbers were caught and three load were collected by detectives. The manner in which the payroll was related in the report.

Detectives Kaiser, Wetzel, Frank McCarthy, chief agent of the Bell Telephone Company, yesterday morning confided to Detective Kaiser's personal friend, that he had a "hunch" that the payroll master was to be held up after dark.

"When we delivered money at the Belmont Exchange and Locust street, I had a hunch," McCarthy said, "that the payroll master was to be held up after dark."

Wednesday afternoon, I was suspicious looking men standing in the corner," McCarthy told. "We had a uniformed patrolman in the automobile, and I think there was a good reason for your partners to trail."

Didn't Think There Was Danger. Kaiser laughingly said he thought there was any danger looking as long as a policeman accompanied the payroll. If he found the time he would the paymaster's automobile curiosity.

So, when the payroll master's car, occupied by the payroll master, Agent McCarthy, the payroll master's treasurer and assistant, pulled away from in front of the Main-Office exchange, Ten Olive streets, at 2:30 p. m., McCarthy and his two partners followed in a police automobile.

When the payroll master's car stopped in front of the Elmer street entrance of the Tyler exchange, three young men who had been waiting in the corner street, approached the car. Just then the payroll master's car was being approached by the detective car. McCarthy alighted the car, and the payroll master's car was being approached by the detective car.

One Had Loaded Revolver. One of the men captured loaded revolver, and on Chestnut street, about 10 feet east of Elmer street, the detectives found a loaded revolver, evidently having been used by one of the men who escaped.

L.A.E. Ernest Fendler, a man employed by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, 1937 North Ninth street, following the story yesterday.

About 3:45 p. m. a young man into the driveway at the side of the Tyler exchange, where Fendler was standing. He had a revolver loaded, and a black mask was on his face. He ran east to street and then to Chambers street, where he was followed by a detective car.

Fendler followed him. As he was running away, a revolver was picked up. McCarthy picked up the revolver, and the payroll master's car was being approached by the detective car.

Car Drove South on Broadway. At Eighth and Chambers street, McCarthy and Fendler were joined by another man, who was carrying a revolver. McCarthy saw them get into a car, and the payroll master's car was being approached by the detective car.

$7000 PAYROLL HOLDUP THWARTED; TWO MEN CAUGHT

Detectives Trail Bell Telephone Paymaster's Car After Agent Has "Hunch" of Trouble at Exchange.

ROBBERS FLEE WHEN POLICE CAR STOPS

Two Men Overtaken in Chase, One With Revolver; Second Weapon, Thrown Away by Fugitive, Found.

A $7000 payroll robbery was thwarted by a "hunch" yesterday afternoon, two of seven suspects were caught and three loaded revolvers were collected by detectives. The manner in which the payroll was saved is related in the reports of Detectives Kaiser, Wetzel, and Byrne.

Frank McCarthy, chief special agent of the Bell Telephone Co., yesterday morning confided to Detective Kaiser, his personal friend, that he had a "hunch" that the company's paymaster was to be held up Thursday afternoon.

When McCarthy delivered payroll money at the Belmont Exchange, between Locust and Olive streets, Wednesday afternoon, I saw two suspicious looking men standing at the corner," McCarthy told Kaiser.

"I had a uniformed patrolman with me in the automobile, and I believe his presence is all that prevented a stop-up. We are going to pay off at the Tyler Exchange, Eleventh and Chambers streets, this afternoon, and I think it would be a good idea for me and my partners to trail along."

Didn't Think There Was Danger. Kaiser laughingly said he did not think there was any danger of a holdup as long as a policeman accompanied the paymaster, but that if he found the time he would follow the paymaster's automobile out of curiosity.

So, when the paymaster's automobile, occupied by the paymaster, Special Agent McCarthy, the company's treasurer and assistant, was pulled away from in front of the Main-Office Exchange, Tenth and Olive streets, at 2:30 p. m., Detective Kaiser and his two partners followed in a police automobile.

When the paymaster's automobile stopped in front of the Tyler Exchange, three young men who had been standing on the corner started to follow the car. Just then the automobile stopped and the three men approached the car, and the paymaster, McCarthy, alighted the men on the corner ran away. Two were caught, but the third, running east on Chambers street, where he was joined by two others, escaped.

One Had Loaded Revolver. One of the men captured had a loaded revolver, and on Chambers street, about 50 feet east of Eleventh street, the detectives found another loaded revolver, evidently thrown away by one of the men who had escaped.

Late Ernest Fendler, a machinist employed by the St. Louis Pile Co., 1387 North Ninth street, witnessed the following story to the detectives.

About 3:45 p. m. a young man ran into the driveway at the site of the company's plant, where Fendler was standing. He had a revolver in his belt and a black mask was dangling from his neck. He ran east to Eleventh street and then to Chambers street. Fendler followed him. As he ran the man tossed away a revolver, which Fendler picked up.

On Deane South on Broadway. At Eleventh and Chambers street here McCarthy was joined by another man, running east on Chambers street, and Fendler saw them get into an automobile on Broadway and Tyler street.

STRUCTURAL IRON WORKERS ACCEPT 15 PCT. WAGE CUT

Master Builders, in Reply to Carpenters, Cite New York's Wages. The Master Builders' Association today issued a statement in reply to the statement of the Carpenters' District Council, published in yesterday's Post-Dispatch. The carpenters, in their statement, declared that the present union wage for their ($12.5 an hour) is not more than the American standard of living, and protested against the proposed reduction of 20 per cent, as part of an effort to lower building costs.

The Master Builders' Association, in its reply, says: "Living costs in New York City are very much higher than in St. Louis, but in spite of this, carpenters there have never received more than $12.5 per hour. This was the highest they received in New York City even prior to the present decrease in living costs. That living costs in St. Louis are very considerably under the New York average is so generally known that it is hardly necessary to state that wages here should be at least $1 lower per day than in New York, instead of $1 higher per day, as at present."

80 Cents Average Wage. "By way of further comparison, the average wage for carpenters in January of this year, in 56 of the largest cities of the United States, was 80 cents an hour. The standard of living in St. Louis probably does not vary considerably from that in these other large cities, so the necessity for wages being 55 per cent higher in this city is hard to understand. That this discrimination will have the effect of stopping all building in 1922, as it did in 1921, is certain."

Moreover, this association believes that the annual earnings, and not the hourly scale, should be considered, and we sincerely believe that the average carpenter will increase his yearly earnings by accepting a reduction in the hourly scale. The statement advises that carpenters work on an average of only 150 to 200 days a year. This was possibly true, taking the United States as a whole during 1921, but was probably true because there was very little building in this year. There are no weather or climatic conditions which would keep carpenters from averaging more than 250 days a year. Their work is very often indoors and under cover, and much more favorable, for instance, than the structural iron workers.

Locally, it is very probable that many of the carpenters did not work more than 150 days in 1921 because it is known that many carpenters have not worked during the past two or three months, and it is also likely that many of them will do little work during the next two or three months if their present stand for $1.25 an hour holds up the building program this spring.

"It has been the contention of this

ALLOCATION OF 20 RADIO PHONE WAVE LENGTHS FAVORED

Government Control of Establishment of Commercial Wireless Transmitting Stations Recommended.

RECEIVING STATIONS NOT AFFECTED

Amateur Transmitting Stations Would Be Given Limited Wave, Under Federal Conference Plan.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Allocation of 20 wave lengths among the various classes of wireless telephony senders, and Government control of establishments of all commercial wireless transmitting telephony stations, are recommended by the three committees of the Government radio conference made public today.

The recommendations do not provide for Government control of receiving stations, which Secretary Hoover has said have increased into the hundreds of thousands in the last few months.

Amateur transmitting stations, under the committee's proposals, would be given exclusive use of wave lengths from 150 to 200 meters and share with technical and training schools wave lengths of from 200 to 275 meters.

Other recommendations are that wave lengths below 6000 meters should in general be reserved for "radio telephone service, but that those wave lengths which have been fixed in service for telegraph service within this range, such as 80 S signals, be retained."

The committee's report expresses the "hope and expectation that the radio telephone may ultimately keep the whole range from zero to 6000 meters."

Status of Public Utility. The committees further urge that the time periods assigned to the different transmitting stations for the various services be placed under the control of the Commerce Department and also that the radio telephone be accorded the status of a public utility.

The recommendations, it was announced, have been made by the three committees after consultation with interested organizations and companies for consideration and the full conference will meet later to formulate its final report.

With respect to legislation the committees urge that the radio laws be amended to give the Secretary of Commerce "adequate legal authority for the effective control of the establishment of radio transmitting stations."

The present development of wireless telephony, the committees find, warrants the separation of the radio telephone from the telegraph and the recommendation that priority first be given broadcasting service and that broadcasting be divided into priorities in this rotation, Government, educational and public, private broadcasting, including entertainment, news, etc., and finally toll broadcasting.

In addition to the wave lengths of 150 and 275 meters for the amateurs, additional wave lengths might be assigned to them for some opportunity in experimental work. The amateurs, under the recommendations, would arrange between themselves as to the division of their wave bands between different varieties of amateur work.

The Wave Allocations. The wave allocations follow: Transoceanic radio telephone experiments, nonexclusive, 5000 to 5000 meters; fixed service radio telephony, nonexclusive, 3300 to 2450; mobile service, nonexclusive, 2450 to 2600; Government broadcasting, nonexclusive, 2050 to 1850; fixed station, nonexclusive, 1850 to 1550; aircraft radio telephony and telegraph, exclusive, 1550 to 1500; Government and public broadcasting, exclusive, 1500 to 1050; radio beacons, exclusive, 1050 to 950; aircraft radio telephony and telegraph, exclusive, 950 to 850; radio compass, exclusive, 850 to 750; Government and public broadcasting, 700 miles inland, 750 to 700; mobile radio telephony, nonexclusive, 750 to 650; mobile radio telegraph, exclusive, 650 to 525; aircraft radio telephony and telegraph, exclusive, 525 to 500; private and toll broadcasting, exclusive, 485 to 310; restricted station amateur radio telephony, nonexclusive, 310; city and State public broadcasting, exclusive, 235 to 275; technical and training schools shared with amateurs, 275 to 200; amateur, exclusive, 150 to 200; and shared with technical and training schools, 200 to 275; and reserved, below 150.

DECLARES SHE LOVED KENNEDY. WED OBENCHAIN

letters that she had written to him. "Old Love Rekindled."

"You did meet Mr. Kennedy and the old spark of love was rekindled, this is not?" the prosecutor asked. "Yes," she replied.

She told of agreeing with Kennedy that they would be married, this agreement being made April 1. Kennedy told her that he failed to go to Chicago in response to her requests owing to the objection of his parents.

The prosecutor read a portion of her testimony given yesterday, telling of her meeting with Kennedy Feb. 6, 1921, and asked her if she loved Kennedy at that time.

"I think I have always loved Belton Kennedy," was her answer. Mrs. Obenchain yesterday told story of love for Kennedy.

In her direct examination, yesterday, Mrs. Obenchain detailed her acquaintance and love for the young broker from a point dating five years ago, gradually, under the direction of her counsel, reaching the climax, the night of Aug. 5 last, when Kennedy was slain in her presence on the steps of his summer cottage in Beverly Glen, California.

She told of her marriage to Ralph R. Obenchain, Chicago attorney; of the divorce he permitted her to obtain, of her coming to Los Angeles, of the alleged plea for a secret marriage, because his mother objected to Mrs. Obenchain as a daughter-in-law; of the arrival here of Arthur C. Burch of Evanston, Ill., jointly indicted with her for the murder of Kennedy, and of many details which linked these events together.

She consulted a diary frequently, and made many intimate disclosures. Once, she said, when she had tried to change the subject, Kennedy had asked her if she loved him, he declared:

"If your lips won't tell that you love me, your eyes do." Her counsel asked her if she had loved the young broker.

"I did love Belton," she answered. "And did he love you?" "I believe he loved me."

"Did you have any agreement with Burch by which you were to bring about Kennedy's death?" "Certainly not," she declared.

Mrs. Obenchain admitted that she asked Burch to come to Los Angeles and that he arrived July 24 and she met him at the station. Mrs. Obenchain suggested the hotel across from Kennedy's office to Burch, according to her testimony. It is the prosecution's theory that Burch deliberately went to this hotel to keep a "death watch" on Kennedy.

During the latter part of July, Mrs. Obenchain testified, she went riding several times with Burch. Asked whether she had ever taken him to Beverly Glen or had ever suggested the Glen to him, she answered, "No."

The Shooting at Beverly Glen. Kennedy called for her about 4 o'clock that afternoon, Mrs. Obenchain said. At his suggestion, they drove to the beach. "He kept asking me if I loved him," she said.

She testified that they started to town for dinner. On their way, they came to a road that led to Beverly Glen. "He asked me if I would like to run up the Glen a little way. As we came to his cottage he recalled the fact that I had hidden a lucky penny under the rock near the house and said, 'Let's look for it.' I assented, but it was then quite dark. When we got up the stairs leading to the cottage I was unable to locate the exact rock, Belton said he would return to the car for matches, but I told him no. I was afraid to be left alone. 'Oh, I'll talk to you all the way going down,' he said."

Mrs. Obenchain's voice broke here and tears came to her eyes and she suddenly wiped them away and continued: "Belton started down the steps, talking to me as he went. It was very dark. I then heard a voice—'Belton! Belton! Belton!' I tried to scream, 'Belton, where are you going?' Belton, please speak to me, I called. I tried to move, but was shaking so I couldn't. Then I heard him cry, 'Good-bye, Madalynne.' He had no more than said the last word when another shot was fired. Then I heard something move beside me, where I stood at the top of the steps. I turned and saw two men running through the brush."

NEW JERSEY LEGISLATURE GIVES BELATED APPROVAL TO NATIONAL PROHIBITION

By the Associated Press.

TRENTON, N. J., March 10. THE New Jersey Legislature yesterday placed the belated stamp of approval upon national prohibition when the House adopted a Senate concurrent resolution ratifying the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution.

The resolution becomes effective without the signature of Gov. Edwards.

Two previous efforts to have the Legislature ratify the eighteenth amendment, in 1920 and 1921, failed of the necessary number of votes.

CONFERENCE MARCH 17 ON RAIL RATE JURISDICTIONS

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 10. — A conference between the Interstate Commerce Commission and representatives of State railway commissions to discuss their respective jurisdictions over rates, as suggested by the Supreme Court in its recent decisions, in the Wisconsin and other rate cases, has been arranged for March 17.

The initiative for the conference was taken by the Interstate Commerce Commission through an invitation by Chairman McChord, to Carl D. Jackson, president of the National Association of Railway and Utility Commissioners who accepted the invitation for March 17.

Dr. F. M. Agnew, 81 years old, whose 62 years at practicing medicine in Illinois is said to be the longest of any physician or surgeon in the State, died here today.

He diagnosed his own ailment and wrote his own death certificate, which was signed by another physician after his death.

Two Women Killed by Lightning.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 10. Mrs. Sallie Jones, 32 years old and Miss Hazel Guinn, 18, were killed by lightning when it struck the Jones home a few miles from Minden, La., during an electrical storm yesterday. Several other occupants of the house, which was only slightly damaged, escaped uninjured.

Persons Warned to Leave Town.

BATON ROUGE, La., March 10. — A party of men this week went to three persons and warned them they had better amend their ways or get out of town. A white woman was warned to leave town immediately. Several officers trailed the party to the home of the woman, and identified the dozen persons in the crowd.

Says Kennedy Threatened Her.

Then he said: 'I've made up my mind that neither you nor I shall leave this room alive.' He drew a revolver, but I grabbed his wrist and told him I would call for a house detective. Then he quieted down, but said: 'You will either go to Santa Ana and marry me or promise to go to Salt Lake with me, or you will never leave this room alive.'

STATE REGULATION OF
UTILITIES DEFENDED

Noah W. Simpson Tells Rotarians Dropping of "City Home Rule" Is Advantage.

State regulation of public utilities as a safeguard against unfair domination by politicians and as a protection to the public against the operations of unscrupulous financiers was detailed yesterday by Noah W. Simpson, a member of the State Public Service Commission, in an address before the Rotary Club at Hotel Statler.

Simpson said that the Public Service Commission was constantly confronted with three separate pleas. He placed the public utility corporation on the one side asking for higher rates, with the public ranged against it demanding that the cost of service be curtailed. The intervening third party, the investor in securities, was pictured as clamoring for unquestionable stability of the corporation.

Tells Value of Body.

He said that the formation of the Public Service Commission, withdrawing as it did utilities from city home rule, was a tremendous step toward an equitable adjustment for the three factions.

Simpson said the hardest work the commission faced was the untangling of the "financial gyrations of public utilities under home rule." He said that cities had been given home rule and were found wanting and the State "finally reached out and rescued you."

"Would there have been $100,000,000 in securities outstanding against the United Railways Co. if the Public Service Commission had been in charge?" he demanded. "No, never. The Public Service Commission is needed in order that public utility investments may be protected, and not, as in the case of the United Railways, have poor women holding preferred stock upon which they have not received one cent for years."

No Immediate Reduction.

He said a reduction of rates was not to be expected immediately, but that "it will come when you will stand for a reduction in the salaries of employees of corporations like the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and the United Railway Co."

BATHHOUSES FOR MILADY'S PUP
ARE THROWN OPEN IN PARIS

Massages and Manicures Also Present to Attend Canine Objects of Feminine Affection.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, March 10.—No longer will those pampered pets of Parisian women—the Pomeranians and the Pekinese—be left to the unskilled care of the maid for their weekly baths. Elaborate baths, constructed and equipped exclusively for the ablutions of pet dogs of wealthy Parisians have just been opened in the exclusive Saint Honore quarter of Paris.

A fashionable dog's life is a veritable path of roses if the word of attendants at the canine bathing establishments may be accepted as true. Attendants say he rides in a luxurious motor car to the baths where he has a private bathing compartment.

After the bath experienced massagers pay their respects to his canine highness while a manicurist shapes his aristocratic claws. When the veterinary determines that his health is all that his owner could desire, he re-enters the motor car with his mistress and returns home to a dainty meal of porters steak.

$50,000 BOND FOR MAN WHO ADMITS HE STOLE $190,000

Former Assistant Treasurer of Pennsylvania U. Says He Lost Most of Money in Speculation.

By the Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, March 10.—Walter A. Unger, former assistant treasurer of the Dr. Thomas W. Evans Dental Institute and Museum funds of the University of Pennsylvania, was today held in $50,000 bail on charges of stealing approximately $190,000 of the fund securities and money. He will receive a speedy trial.

"I stole the money," Unger confessed today to the police, "and I want to start my sentence and get it over with. I took the money to make my mother happy."

Unger was arrested in a rooming house last night after being missing 10 days. He had been in the company of John McDermott, who, detectives said, has a police record. A neighbor recognized McDermott and became suspicious of Unger, and informed the police.

In his cell earlier in the day Unger, detectives said, confessed he lost most of the money in bucket shops and in other speculation.

"I'm glad they caught me," Unger said, according to a detective assigned to the case. "I was in fear all the time. I always thought police were on my trail. Why did I do it? The old story. The brother showed me the pretty picture, the beautiful scenery and the bright outlook. I got in too deep, tried to come back, got beyond my depth. I am willing to pay for my deed. But my family, the innocent bystanders, as always, will suffer."

An alleged companion of Unger, who was arrested on a charge of having received stolen goods, also is to be given a hearing today. He gave his name as Charles Logan. But the police said he was known under several aliases. According to the authorities Unger has given him more than $10,000.

When taken into custody last night, Unger told the detectives that he had not been out of his room for two days and had been without food for 36 hours. More than $10,000 in cash was found in his possession. This, the detectives said, was part of the $12,000 he had withdrawn the day prior to his disappearance on the pretext that it was to pay salaries of instructors.

In his confession, as given out by Assistant District Attorney Gordon, the prisoner admitted having taken this sum, and also securities belonging to the institute, with a par value of from $120,000 to $140,000.

TAKE GUDE'S PEPTO-MANGAN

It Is the Safe and Reliable Tonic Used by Physicians for 30 Years.

There are "new styles" even in medicine. A new "fad" comes, is popular for a while, and then fades out of public view. A remedy that has stood the test for thirty years must have remarkable merit and cannot be called a "fad." Such is Gude's Pepto-Mangan, originated by Dr. A. Gude over a quarter century ago, which has helped many thousands of people back to good health by improving the blood. Pepto-Mangan is an iron tonic. It contains iron in a special form easily absorbed by the system. It puts color into the lips and cheeks and improves the entire body by improving and enriching the blood. It is sold by druggists in both liquid and tablet form. If you want to be well and strong and look fine and healthy, take Gude's Pepto-Mangan.

It's Not Elbow Grease But Soap Flakes That Take Dirt Out.

Some laundresses wash as if they would rub the very ridges off the washboard—and yet the clothes look grey. Other laundresses hardly seem to do any rubbing at all—and the clothes come out spotlessly clean and white.

The difference is that the latter use science; and science has taught us that it isn't elbow grease but soap fat that takes dirt out. In Rinso, the scientific balance of soap fats with other cleansing materials has been found. Its almost magical suds just soak out the dirt that your muscles used to have to rub away.

When you use Rinso you need do no rubbing except on the particularly soiled places that always do need special attention, and yet your clothes will be as clean as if you had toiled over them in the old back-breaking way.

While Husband Operated Among Society Folk, She Says, She Did Own Home Work.

NEW YORK, March 18.—Mrs. Alfred E. Lindsay, wife of the bankrupt "Domino Club" broker, who is accused of fleecing New York society women out of nearly a million dollars, met Assistant District Attorney Murphy yesterday and sobbed out a story of the privations she suffered while her husband was operating in five and six figures on the stock market.

"For the last three years I have done my own work, including washing, ironing and scrubbing," Mrs. Lindsay said.

YOUTHFUL ELOPERS ARRESTED AT STATION

Red Cherries on Girl's Hat and Shortness of Youth Make Identification Easy.

When Ella Claire Venable, 15 years old and 5 feet 9 inches high, wearing two red cherries on her hat and carrying a red silk canteen, and accompanied by Freddie George, five years older but four inches shorter than she, stepped from a Burlington train at Union Station at 1:30 o'clock this morning, Detectives Quinn and Broaders walked right up to them and told them the chief wanted to see them.

It wasn't necessary to ask their names or question them at all. The red cherries and the red canteen and the shortness of Freddy made identification easy.

The description had come from the authorities of Hamilton, Ill., where Ella lives, and Keokuk, Ia., across the river, where Freddie lives, with a request that they be held.

Ella is a high school girl and Freddie is a shoemaker. Ella's cousin introduced her to Freddie, who had been devoting himself to the cousin. He switched to Ella and last week they decided to get married. Freddie's mother was willing, but Ella's wasn't. She said Ella was only a high school girl and too young to get married. So they planned to elope.

Ella met Freddie in Keokuk and they took the night train for St. Louis. Tucked away in Freddie's pocket was a note from his mother notifying all whom it might concern that she gave her consent to the marriage of her son, Michael, to Eleanor Claire Venable. They say the names, as given by her, are official, but they will each other Ella and Freddie.

Ella is in the care of the police matron and Freddie is in the hold-over.

GIRL WHOSE TEMPERATURE WENT TO 114, HAS RECOVERED

Unusual Case of Grip Patient Told Of by Physician of Bristol, England.

BRISTOL, England, Feb. 21.—The extraordinary figure of 114 degrees Fahrenheit was the recorded temperature of a girl here, who was suffering from the grip.

When first called to see the girl the physician said he was astonished to find that his clinical thermometer recorded a temperature of 113 degrees, but, thinking that the thermometer was out of order, he requisitioned two others only to find that they both recorded the same high point. During the night the patient's temperature advanced two degrees. Appropriate treatment was at once applied, the girl's temperature gradually subsided to normal, or thereabouts, and she is now stated to be in perfect health. Medical journals here do not record an instance of such temperature being followed by the patient's recovery.

"It's never touched me yet," he explained when they pointed out the risks.

That's the answer a good many people make when they hear that the drug element in tea and coffee often harms nerves and health. They say it's never touched them yet.

Sometimes they only think it hasn't.

Wakeful nights, drowsy days, headaches that keep coming more frequently—often are blamed on bad luck when the blame belongs on bad

Over on the safe side is Postum, a pure cereal beverage, delicious and satisfying—containing nothing that can harm nerves or digestion. Thousands who used to try their luck with tea or coffee are enthusiastic over having found safety and satisfaction in Postum.

It's worth your while to make the test with Postum for ten days. Postum is a delightful drink for any member of the family, at any meal.

Your grocer has both forms of Postum: Instant Postum (in tin) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

SUIT FILED TO KEEP BRENTWOOD FROM COLLECTING LICENSE TAX

Injunction Action Brought by Proprietors of Road Houses in County.

An injunction suit was filed in the Circuit Court in Clayton yesterday by proprietors of road houses on the Manchester and North and South roads in an effort to prevent Brentwood from collecting an annual license tax of $100 by ordinance. The plaintiffs were W. H. Link, proprietor of Link's chicken farm, and Leslie W. Berry.

The petition alleged that Link had been arrested 15 times and fined $50 each time for refusal to pay the tax, and that Berry had been twice arrested and twice fined $50. Both appealed the fines to the Circuit Court, where they are pending.

The Board of Trustees of Brentwood early last year passed the ordinance. Link brought an injunction suit, which is pending, Aug. 3, and Aug. 16 the trustees passed a new ordinance.

The proprietors of the road houses are the leaders in a movement to disincorporate Brentwood, which would abolish the tax. A petition for disincorporation is pending in the County Court at Clayton.

GRAND JURY REPORT EXPECTED ON STATE OFFICES TODAY

Cole County Body Understood Not to Have Voted Indictments in Hackmann Inquiry.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFERSON CITY, March 18.—The Cole County grand jury, which has had the State Auditor's office and the State Beverage Inspection Department under investigation since Monday, is expected to make a report before night and to return into court the indictments found. It is the understanding here that no indictment was voted as a result of the investigation of Gov. Hyde's charges of irregularities in Auditor Hackmann's office.

The jury completed its examination of witnesses at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, all witnesses who had not been examined up to that time being excused, indicating that the jury was ready to vote on indictments.

Attorney-General Barrett and Prosecuting Attorney Westheus were again observed with the jury this morning, probably assisting in the preparation to be made to the Circuit Judge State, though neither was in the jury room when votes were taken on indictments.

PREHISTORIC ANIMAL TRACKS FOUND ON KENTUCKY RIDGE

Imprint in Solid Rock Has Five Toes and Measures Eleven Inches Across.

By the Associated Press.

MCKEE, Ky., March 18.—Traces of prehistoric animals, one of which is five-toed and 11 inches across, have been found in the solid rock on the summit of the dividing ridge between the Kentucky and Cumberland rivers, near here. It was reported today.

A three-toed track of abnormal proportions is near by, and on another stone plateau are the tracks of a herd of animals of great weight. Petrified tracks believed to have been made by humans also have been found. It was reported.

In the same vicinity a few years ago a tooth the size of a loaf of bread was found.

OBJECTORS TO CLASSES IN GERMAN ANSWERED

Society Obtained Consent to Use Public Schools and Pays All Expenses.

Opening of classes for the instruction of children in the German language, by the Deutsche Schulverein von St. Louis (German School Society, Incorporated), in two public schools last Saturday, has brought two letters of protest to the Post-Dispatch, which were answered today by officials of the schools and the society.

The letters attacked the instruction as un-American and unnecessary. One letter was signed "Jeff Mackay," a name frequently appearing in the People's Column of the Post-Dispatch, and the other was signed "Committee," with a note stating copies had been sent to "K. K. K." and "B. of E." J. M. Wolf, the German School Society, said: "Disloyalty Talk Foolish."

"Before the war our society taught German in a number of grade schools to many pupils, on Saturdays. We waited until peace was officially declared and then got permission to start again. We opened classes at the Blair School, 207 Rauschenbach avenue, and Garfield School, 2613 Wyoming street, last Saturday, with about 280 pupils, using 13 rooms. "Disloyalty Talk Foolish."

"We think that German should be taught to preserve the knowledge of the language and because it is useful in this country. It is foolish to talk about disloyalty; that's like stopping the playing of German music during the war. England and other countries started the people studying German during the war. There is no expense to the public schools in conducting this teaching. Our society, which is supported by voluntary contributions, hires the teachers and supplies the books. There is no tuition charge, but parents of the pupils often make contributions. Probably most of the pupils are of German descent. They come from the grade and high schools."

Superintendent of Instruction Maddox said that the Board of Education had approved the application for the use of the schools for German classes, after approval by the Committee on Instruction. Any reputable organization can obtain the use of the schools for a worthy object, he said. The Board of Education has nothing to do with the conduct of the classes, which run from 9 a. m. to Noon Saturdays. The German School Society plans to enlarge its classes and use more school buildings later.

Spanish Taught in High Schools

The teaching of German in the public high schools was stopped when this country entered the war and has not been resumed. The letter from "Jeff Mackay" made this statement: "By the Monroe Doctrine we are the guardians of the liberties of the Central and South American republics and we ought to know their language for political and business reasons. If any foreign language is taught it should be Spanish." Spanish is taught in the high schools, but not Portuguese, also used in South America.

POSTAL SERVICE PURPOSES TO OFFER PRIZES FOR SUGGESTIONS

Senate Postoffice Committee Adopts Innovations in Recommendations for Appropriations.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 10.—Appropriations of $50,000,000 for Federal road construction next year, $1,000,000 for continuing the transcontinental airplane mail service and $513,000 for re-establishing the New York-Brooklyn pneumatic mail tube service, are additions to the annual postoffice appropriation bill carrying about $54,000,000, which was ordered reported yesterday by the Senate Postoffice Committee.

In addition to the $50,000,000 for next year in carrying out the Federal highway act, the committee declared for $55,000,000 for 1924, and $75,000,000 for 1925.

An innovation in the postal service proposed by the committee is capital prizes for suggestions from employees for improvements or economies in device, design or process. Appropriation of $5000 for such awards next year was recommended.

LAWYER, WHO MAY BE EARL, IGNORES A TITLE

Cyril W. C. Armstrong of Chicago Says "American Citizen" Is Better Term.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, March 18.—Cyril Woodward Clibbey Armstrong, self-made Chicago lawyer, whose struggle for a living has been only moderately successful today was informed that he is sole heir to an English earldom, but the news had little effect on him, for he calmly informed newspaper reporters that he already possessed the greatest title in the world—that of American citizen—and desired no other.

Armstrong received a communication, which had been sent to friends of his by the Consul Department in Washington, in response to queries from relatives in India asking that he be located. He produced letters and documents to prove that he was the man sought, but said he knew nothing of the title he is supposed to have inherited, for he became separated from his family when a child and had worked his way up to membership in the bar through night schools. Previously he sold newspaper subscriptions, worked on Canadian farms and was a reporter on the Quincy (Ill.) Whig-Journal.

Consul Writes of Case. The letter asking that Armstrong be traced, written by Orran Phonsen, British Vice Consul in charge at Nairobi, East Africa, stated that the Armstrongs recently had fallen heir to an earldom; that Cyril was the immediate heir and that his younger brother, Capt. St. John Sherverton, was seeking Cyril. The letter was forwarded by Washington to Mayor P. J. Mc'Brien of Quincy, who located Armstrong in Chicago.

"I know nothing of the title," said Armstrong today, "but I do know that I am the Armstrong sought. If the experts of a title prove correct, well, I'll cross that bridge when I come to it. I came to this country, became an American citizen, fought my way up to a position of respect in this community and it will always be foremost in my mind that I hold the greatest title in the world—that of American citizen. This is a bad day for any other title and I have no desire to change."

Rejected From the Army. Armstrong learned of his second brother's death in France in the war through the communications received today. Armstrong tried twice to enlist in the American army in the war and once in the Canadian army, but was rejected. He has heard from no member of his family for about 10 years, he said, his uncle's last address being Edinburgh, Scotland.

"I am making no investigation," he said. "I am satisfied to be an American. If they really have a title and a big estate for me as is reported—I don't know what I'll do. I claim no title now."

TWO WOMEN CLAIM TO BE WIDOWS OF NEW YORK MAN

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 18.—Two women, each in deep mourning and each leading a phalanx of witnesses, appeared before Surrogate James A. Foley yesterday in an action to determine which should be the legal widow of the late Frank Bortel, who at the time of his death last Aug. 13 was head of the New York Public Service Freight Bureau.

Mrs. Anna Bortel of New York sat at the counsel table. Behind her sat Mrs. Hattie Bortel of South Bend, Ind.

The Indiana widow says she married Bortel in Kansas City 19 years ago and that her first intimation of a rival was when she came to New York to attend her husband's funeral and found his body in the possession of the other woman. Both then claimed the right to bury Bortel and a lively scene ensued, which resulted in the present action.

The New York widow, who is 24

NEGR0 WOMAN, WHO CLAIMED TO BE 113 YEARS OLD, IS DEAD

Old Letter Shown to Prove Birth Date of Mrs. Evelyn Gardner, of 3403 Walnut Street.

Mrs. Evelyn Gardner, a negro, of 3403 Walnut street, who claimed to be 113 years old, died at her home last night of influenza from which she had been suffering for a week.

In support of her claim of having been born on April 13, 1809, which would have made her 114 years old next month, relative with whom she lived today exhibited a letter dated March, 1919, from Dr. Almos Gardner of Gardner Station, Tenn., a relative of the negroes' owner in slave days, which states that family records show her to have been born on that date. As was customary among the slaves prior to the Civil War she and her husband, who died 25 years ago, took the surname of their owner.

Her daughter, Mrs. Maggie Bright, said that the body would be taken to Gardner Station for burial if the Health Department would permit it. Two other members of the family are ill with influenza and the house is quarantined.

RALPH H. FAULKNER ADMITS FAILURE TO PAY HOTEL BILLS

Given Until March 25 to Settle Obligations: Held to Washington Grand Jury on Another Charge.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Ralph H. Faulkner, former army captain, who is being sued for divorce by Mrs. Marie Butler Faulkner of St. Louis, pleaded guilty in Police Court today to three charges of having failed to pay hotel bills. Sentence was deferred to March 25 on Faulkner's statement that by that time he expected to have the money with which to pay the bills. $105 to the Raleigh Hotel, $31 to the Harrington, and 75 to the Washington.

Bail was fixed at $300 in each case. On a charge of having obtained money under false pretenses by passing a worthless check for $100, Faulkner pleaded not guilty and was held to await the action of the grand jury. In default of $2000 bond he was sent back to jail, where he has been since his arrest about a week ago.

Mrs. Faulkner resides at 1143 Union boulevard and is a granddaughter of the late Col. Edward Butler. She will receive $200,000 from his estate when she reaches the age of 20. She is 24 years old.

Funeral of Miss Bridget Butler. Funeral services for Miss Bridget Butler, 85 years old, of 5031 Northland avenue, who died at 7 o'clock last night from infirmities of age, will be conducted by her nephew, the Rev. John J. Butler, secretary of the Catholic Charities Association at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, King's highway and Northland avenue at 2 a. m. tomorrow.

TWO WOMEN INJURED ESCAPING FROM FIRE

One Hurt Climbing Out of Second Floor Window When Awning Breaks.

Fire in a second-floor flat over a meat market at 2065 North Twelfth street, at 12:40 a. m. today, cut off escape of occupants by the stairway and forced two men and two women to attempt to climb down by means of a canvas awning, or jump. The two women suffered injuries.

Henry Schoene, 38, a painter, occupant of the flat, was awakened by smoke, and discovered flames in the walling of his room. He awakened his wife and Mrs. Mary Hickman, her sister-in-law, who were in another room, and the three attempted to descend the stairway into the market. It was filled with smoke, and Schoene and Mrs. Hickman attempted to reach the street by climbing onto the awning in front of the market. It broke and both fell. Schoene was uninjured, but a stone, dislodged from a window ledge fell on Mrs. Hickman's foot. She was sent to the city hospital.

Mrs. Schoene jumped from the window and was caught by a youth, whose name was not learned.

Mrs. Schoene entered the market and succeeded in getting part way up the stairway and arousing Bronislaw Tyczynski, proprietor of the market, who was asleep upstairs. He jumped from a rear window and was not injured. Mrs. Schoene suffered burns about the neck and was cared for by neighbors.

The fire is supposed to have started from a defective flue.

BISHOP DECLARES DIVORCE IS WRECKING NATION'S CHILD LIFE

Noonday Speaker Says Separations Are More Than Twice Number of Marriages Each Year.

Bishop Wise talked of the evils of divorce at a noonday service of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew at Christ Church Cathedral yesterday, telling of a constant increase in the number of divorces in the United States, which, he said, had the highest divorce rate in the world.

He said there were more than twice as many divorces in the United States each year as there were marriages, and that as a result the child life of the country was being "wrecked" through the destruction of homes.

Bishop Wise's last address of his series in St. Louis was at the Cathedral at noon today.

ROBBERS COMPEL VICTIMS TO PLAY JAZZ DURING HOLDUP

Store Proprietor and Friend Practicing When Thieves Entered, Are Told to "Keep It Up."

JOPLIN, Mo., March 10.—A drug store at Hockerville, Ok., 25 miles southwest of here, was robbed to the tune of a jazz fox trot last night by two unmasked robbers, according to word received here today.

The music was provided by Roy Walker, proprietor, and a friend, Clarence Hawkins, who were forced at the points of revolvers to play their horns 20 minutes continuously while they were robbed of their cash and the store ransacked.

Walker and Hawkins were practicing when the holdups entered. "Keep the music going," they were told.

TOWN TO FIGHT LIFE SENTENCES OF YOUTHS

Money Being Raised in Flint, Mich., to Aid Pair Convicted of Poisoning Man.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FLINT, Mich., March 10.—Money is being raised by popular subscription to carry to the Supreme Court the cases of Clifford Thorpe, 17 years old, and Charles Austin, 20, convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to imprisonment for life at hard labor. The boys were charged with administering carbolic acid mixed in "moonshine" whiskey to Paul Delsie, wealthy meat wholesaler and employer of the youths.

The trial, which lasted nearly two weeks, attracted crowds from all over this section of the country and was one in which almost every citizen of this city was deeply interested. When the verdict of guilty was returned the mother of Austin and a sister of Thorpe fainted. The mother remained unconscious for about 15 hours and her condition is reported serious.

The two boys are alleged to have administered the poison because Delsie threatened to have them arrested for theft of some of his money, although the youths deny this. Delsie is said to have drunk with the boys.

The boys first confessed to the officers and later denied the commission, saying it was made under threats. The confession, signed by the boys, however, was introduced at the trial, and accepted as testimony.

Boy in Knee Pants at Indiana Prison to Serve Life Term for Killing.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., March 10.—John Mollick, 19 years old, who appeared at the prison yesterday in knee pants to begin a life imprisonment sentence, was convicted of the murder of his stepmother, Mrs. Robert Stoltz, near Valparaiso, Ind., last November. He was the first prisoner ever to appear at the penitentiary wearing knee pants.

Though a plea of insanity was made, he was convicted and sentenced in the Porter Circuit Court.

Mrs. Robert Stoltz, 30 years old, the wife of a farmer, was shot in the back on Nov. 21 last, by the boy, who lived at the Stoltz home. The woman died four hours later. Mollick used a shotgun and the charge tore away a large part of the woman's back.

When Mrs. Stoltz asked the boy why he shot her, he replied that he did not know. Mrs. Stoltz and the boy were alone at the time, and after the shooting she told him to go to the barn and notify the children. The lad placed the gun in a corner and left the house without cap or coat. The Stoltz children ran to a farmhouse a mile away for help. Stoltz was away.

Mollick had been living at the Stoltz home for four years. No grievances existed between the boy and Mrs. Stoltz and no reason could be assigned for the shooting. The boy never had caused any trouble. It was understood.

The boy's father for some time lived at Indiana Harbor, but is now said to be living in Poland. Mrs. Catherine Mares of Chicago, aunt of the boy, employed counsel. A piece of paper bearing writing said to have been that of Mrs. Stoltz, done after the shooting, saying that "John shot me" was offered in evidence. The paper was found in a crocheted basket several days after the shooting. The writing was identified by Stoltz as that of his wife. He testified that Mollick was backward in his school work and was in the fourth grade, but spoke of him as "a good boy."

"I Continued the Payments"

"One day my mother, of whom I am the sole support, was in an automobile accident and suffered injuries which made an operation necessary. I had not saved, and was totally unprepared for the expense, so the only thing I could do was to pay off the obligation, $10 on first and fifteenth of each month, pay-days.

"After I had gone through with this, and paid off the debt, I awoke to my possibilities. I had thought I could not save, but I surprised myself by being able to make these regular payments. When the debt was paid, I continued the $10 per pay-day payments—this time in a Mercantile savings account."

BANK ROBBERY IS FRUSTRATED

Clerk Calls Police When He "Hears Strange Noises."

DENVER, Colo., March 10.—An attempt to rob the Metropolitan State Bank, in the downtown business district of Denver, was frustrated early today after the would-be robbers had drilled and blasted half way through the wall of the principal vault. Louis Mapp, who operates a cigar stand in the basement of the bank building, notified the police that he heard strange noises in the bank. The riot squad of the police responded, but found nobody in the bank.

In addition to the hole in the wall of the vault, the police found that the locks had been sawed off the main door of the vault.

New Regulation Permits Procuring of Amount Equal to 10 Per Cent of Year's Sales.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Wholesale druggists may now stock up with a year's supply of "potable liquor," according to a new Treasury regulation issued last night by Revenue Commissioner Blair.

A wholesale druggist may now procure an amount of liquor equal to 10 per cent of the value of his drug business sales during the last year, instead of for only a three months' period, as formerly, but additional amounts of liquor may be obtained during the 12 months only with the approval of the Commissioner.

PART TWO.

Listening In on the Wireless Line—the Wireless Fascinating

Messages From Ships at Sea Pick Eavesdropping

Listening in on the wireless party line—the wireless telegraph has become one of the most interesting diversions of hundreds of thousands who have installed listening devices by means of which they can take the air-radiated messages, music, lectures, news, points of varying distance, and the degree of perfection of the instrument.

Dials with accurately graduated scales on them are turned back, forth, much as the combination of a safe is worked, until finally the other waves beating upon the aerial wires to be transformed into articulate sound through the phone receivers adjusted to the progress of the radio enthusiast.

Such progress has wireless telegraph instruments used by the navy during the war and the war now obsolete. During the most wireless communication by means of the wireless telegraph is in the transmission of the dots and dashes of the national Morse or Continental codes. Only persons who were familiar with one or the other of the codes could use the wireless. It was a very little use of the telephone. Today the same is true of the wireless. The same records the dot and dash voice and musical sounds as well.

To ascertain how and to what extent St. Louisans are using the wireless, a Post-Dispatch reporter "tuned in" at a number of stations under varying conditions, less first that the radio set is as accurate as a baby when it is proud, and then to show off its accomplishments, and, later, that, like a baby, it may be coaxed into more satisfactory performance.

Var Drums Got a Batterin' "Static" was the apologetic answer the first night when reporter, never before having eavesdropped on the world's wireless messages began to wince under terrible battering that his ears received.

"Static," you know, is the frequency electric energy with which the atmosphere may be charged. There is always more or less but when it reaches a degree might be called saturation it is charged as lightning, followed by rumblings of thunder. So delicate is the wireless receiving instrument that static activity so mild as to be unnoticeable to the world at large makes itself known with crashes through the ear piece. That first night it was stormy, though there was no lightning or thunder. Adjusting the receiver to a very complete radio receiving the reporter listened while the "tuned up" by spinning three or four dials.

Detroit Heard From "There's Detroit," he cried as he heard the faint sound of human voices distinguished. Carefully he tuned the dials and the voice came louder and clearer, then—crash—static was getting busy, continued its disturbance with frequency as to make listening comfortable.

The owner adjusted to a low wave length. The different lengths are at present the only selective feature of radio telephony. A message sent at a long wave length cannot be picked up with same adjustment that would pick up a short-length message. Explaining a few cautious turns of the dial the operator finally got range of the great radio broadcasting station at Pittsburgh, Pa.

There was an announcement made, and then shortly afterward began to speak. Referring to the program for the night, the speaker was Miss L. Walker of the League of Women Voters and that her subject was "The Qualities of Leadership." Static interruptions were too frequent to make listening a pleasure.

Ships Brought Into Range Some exploring with the little high-power transmitter ships at sea into range. Those messages were in the telegraph code—high-toned buzzes—perhaps a ship approaching an Atlantic coast, or maybe a warship steaming west.

Coming back to the Pittsburgh station the Detroit range, some orchestra music was heard. "When the atmospheric conditions are just right," the owner said, "I can hear magnavox to the receiving instrument and while I have dinner or orchestra music played on the radio, I can hear the phonograph music played in the same room."

Then a man's wireless equipment was heard. A powerful sending set was being transmitted a long message of phonograph music.

Listening In on World's Party Line—the Wireless—Is Becoming Fascinating Diversion Here

Messages From Detroit, Pittsburg and Even Ships at Sea Picked Up When Reporter Tries Eavesdropping at Several Stations.

Listening in on the world's great party line—the wireless telephone—has become one of the most fascinating diversions of hundreds of St. Louisans who have installed receiving devices by means of which they can take the air-radiated messages, music, lectures, news, from points of varying distance, depending upon the degree of perfection of the instrument.

Dials with accurately graduated scales on them are turned back and forth, much as the combination lock of a safe is worked, until finally the combination is found which permits the ether waves beating upon the aerial wires to be transformed into articulate sound through the telephone receivers adjusted to the ears of the listener.

Progress in Wireless Rapid.

Such progress has wireless communication made since the war that radio instruments used by the military during the war and then regarded as wonderful achievements are now obsolete. During the war, wireless communication was by means of the wireless telegraph, that is, in the transmission by sound of the dots and dashes of the international Morse code. Only persons who were familiar with one or the other of these codes could use the wireless. There was very little use of the wireless telephone. Today the same instrument records the dot and dash of the Morse code and musical sounds equally well.

To ascertain how and to what extent St. Louisans are using the wireless, a Post-Dispatch reporter "listened in" at a number of stations, under varying conditions, learning that the radio set is as stubborn as a baby when its proud parents want to show off its accomplishments, and, later, that like the baby, it may be coaxed into more or less satisfactory performance.

Var Drums Got a Battering.

"Static" was the apologetic owner's alibi the first night when the reporter, never before having eavesdropped on the world's whispered messages began to wince under the static battering that his ear drums received.

"Static," you know, is the high-frequency electric energy with which the atmosphere may be charged. When it reaches a degree that might be called saturation, it is discharged as lightning, followed by rumblings of thunder. So delicate is the wireless receiving instrument that static activity so mild as to be undetectable to the world at large causes terrific crashes and clashes and bangs through the ear piece.

That first night it was storming. Although there was no lightning or thunder, adjusting the receivers of the reporter listened while the owner worked the combination, that is, "tuned up" by spinning three or four dials.

"There's Detroit," he cried eagerly as a faint sound of human voices was distinguished. Clearly the voice was louder and clearer, then—hang, crash—static was getting busy, and continued its disturbance with such discomfort as to make listening uncomfortable.

The owner adjusted to a longer wave length. The different wave lengths are at present the only selective feature of radio telephoning. Messages sent at a long wave length cannot be picked up by a short-length message. Exploring the few cautious turns of the dial, the operator finally got the station of the great radio broadcast station at Pittsburg. It was found that the speaker was Miss L. Lola Walker of the League of Women Voters and that her subject was the "Qualities of Leadership."

The static interruptions were too frequent to make listening a pleasure. Ships brought into range.

Some exploring with the little dials brought the high-power transmission station at sea into range. These messages were in the telegraph code—dots and dashes—perhaps a great advantage, but a warship steaming off the coast.

Coming back to the Pittsburg and Detroit range, some orchestral music was heard.

"When the atmospheric conditions are right," the owner said, "I attach a magnifying glass to the receiving instrument and while I have dinner I listen to orchestra music played in Detroit or Chicago and reproduced clearly as if it were being played right in the same room."

This man's wireless equipment includes a powerful sending set and last night he transmitted a lengthy message of phonograph music for

Reed and Lodge Quit Even in Missourian's Third Attack on Treaty

Democrat Expresses Gratification When Delegate Tells of Looking Up Sakhalin on Map; Lodge Recalls Reed's Error.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The treaty debate drags its slow length along.

It is not, however, without its enlivening passages. As a sudden sharp attack in a boxing match sets the spectators yelling for blood, or a long clout by Babe Ruth or George Sisler rescues a baseball crowd from boredom, so on the occasional title of the forensic champions of the Senate capture the jaded attention of the galleries.

EXPLOITATION OF RUSSIA FACTOR IN U. S. GENOA STAND

Administration Said to Have Meant No Threat in Note, but Plainly Stated Its View of Financier's Tactics.

EYE WILL BE KEPT ON PROCEEDINGS

Economic Policies Adopted
There, It Is Admitted, Will Be of Paramount Importance to America.

By DAVID LAWRENCE,
Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—America meant no threat to England and France in her note about the Genoa conference—but if warning words are found therein they must be applied to the groups, particularly those headed by Hugo Stinnes in Germany, which seek the exploitation of Russia.

This interpretation of the Hughes note came from official quarters today following the spread of rumors to the effect that America in the note declining Italy's invitation to the economic conference at Genoa had warned France and Great Britain that exploitation of Russian resources by their respective nations was not likely to bring funds in lieu of German reparations.

The truth is, the United States did not aim its note at any particular nation, but expressed itself on the whole economic situation in Europe without regard to nationalities. There is deep significance, however, in one sentence of the American note which probably will cause Europe to ponder. It reads thus:

"It is also the view of this Government—and it trusts that view is shared by the governments who have called the conference—that while awaiting the establishment of the essential basis of productivity in the world, there is no room for competition in their interest."

Even if the United States had declined to attend the Genoa conference, nothing more expressive of the American viewpoint for Russia would have been spoken. America gives as her reason for staying away from Genoa the fact that political entanglements in Europe are involved, but there is recognition in executive quarters here nevertheless that certain economic developments affecting the United States are inescapable.

Because America believes it is to the interest of the allied governments to have the same view, the American note deals publicly with one phase of the Genoa program. For while it is true that the United States will be physically absent from the Genoa conference, there is no intention of being quiet if the occasion should demand plain speaking.

The United States can talk to the other governments and their peoples through public statements as well as diplomatic notes. The Genoa conference developments are too closely watched. The economic policies adopted there are admitted here to be of paramount importance to America. The phrase "tactical pressure" which was coined in State Department circles to express the trend of American policy toward Europe, has some analogy to the "moral suasion" of the last administration, but it is being employed as a result of an entirely different set of circumstances.

Invited by Congress.

The Congress of the United States has issued a warning against entanglement in European affairs, and while the executive branch of the Government is sympathetic with that theory, it nevertheless feels too encumbered and tied down by congressional limitations, and would go much further toward co-operation with Europe if it dared.

That is because the economic phases of the European situation are so close to America's opportunities to get payments of interest and principal on $10,000,000 of war debts, to say nothing of the desire for European trade to stimulate American agricultural and manufacturing industries.

How to Correct Unfairness to Cities in State Senate Representation, a Problem for New Constitution

Recurrence of Conditions That Have Prevailed for 20 Years Through No or Ineffective Apportionment Must Be Guarded Against.

This is the second article in a series that Assistant Attorney-General Otis has written expressly for the Post-Dispatch on defects in the present Missouri Constitution which he holds should be secured or eliminated from the new organic law that is to be framed by the conventions that will meet in May and the delegates for which were chosen at a special election last January.

By MERRILL E. OTIS,
Assistant Attorney General of Missouri.

WHILE the Constitutional Convention of 1875 intentionally discriminated against the cities and more populous counties in the matter of representation in the Lower House, it declared for representation in the Senate based on population. The language is: "For the election of Senators the state shall be divided into convenient districts, as nearly equal in population as may be, the same to be ascertained by the last decennial census taken by the United States."

Appointed under Census De-

The decennial readjustment of the districts so as to preserve equality in population was left primarily to the General Assembly. To insure that no "senator" should go by without representation the convention adopted a provision committing that work to the Governor, Secretary of State and Attorney-General, should the Legislature fail to reapportion.

The authors of the Constitution of 1875 were especially proud of this provision and in the address to the people which they submitted in advocacy of the instrument they had written, they said referring to this section: "Ample provision has been made to guard against a failure to reapportion."

But, unfortunately, what the delegates of 1875 thought ample provision to prevent a failure to redistrict failed to secure that result after the census of 1910, and the provision itself, so highly and so justly commended, has now been eliminated by judicial construction from the Constitution.

While the present Governor, Secretary of State and Attorney-General, following the census of 1920, redistricted the State, producing the closest approach to equality of population as between districts that had ever been attained, the Supreme Court held that the initiative and referendum amendment had stricken from the Constitution the provision authorizing them to do so. The result is that the State has not been redistricted since 1901. The result of that is that in the Senate, as in the House, there is gross discrimination against the great cities of the State, especially Kansas City and St. Louis.

Senate Representation Unfair.

Although St. Louis and Kansas City have more than one-third of the population of Missouri, they have less than one-fifth of the representation in the Senate. The four Senators from St. Louis now represent 193,224 people. Each of the two Senators from Kansas City represents 183,923 people. The average senatorial district outside of these cities contains a population of 80,822. The population of one district, composed of Pike, Audrain and Lincoln counties, is only 40,000.

French See Only Clouds at Genoa

People Frankly Depressed by Decision of U. S. Not to Attend Conference.

By LINCOLN EYRE,
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

PARIS, March 10.—The sky of Genoa is heavily overcast.

While the French public was not wholly unprepared for a refusal by the United States to participate in the conference, it is frankly depressed by the aloof note struck in Secretary Hughes' message declining the Italian invitation.

At the Foreign Office one is told that "without the United States little can be accomplished at Genoa save the preparation for some future conference at which the Americans can be present," while Le Temps, epitomizing the general trend of the press comment, gloomily exclaims: "The Genoa enterprise is bankrupt."

French officialdom is recalling France's desire, from the outset, to obtain adequate guarantees from the Russian soviet Government before meeting the soviet envoys. It was on this point, however, that Premier Poincare yielded to Premier Lloyd George at Boulogne, and it is now too late for the French to revert to their original position, despite their complete accord with the American viewpoint.

MIXED JURIES TO BE SCREENED OFF AFTER COMPLAINT OF MEN

Minnesota Sheriff Adopts Plan of Handling Juries Overnight Until Law Is Changed.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 10.—Heavy screens will be used to partition off the jury room in the county jail here when both men and women comprise a jury forced to pass a night there, Sheriff John Wagner says.

This announcement came after complaints had been made by male members of a mixed jury, who passed two nights in the jury room last week, with only hastily improvised curtains separating the cots.

The arrangements to be made by Sheriff Wagner will not violate the law.

A jury comprising both men and women hearing a case in this State need not be locked up for the night in one room, under the Minnesota statutes, as interpreted by Clifford L. Hon. State's Attorney-General.

Gov. J. A. O. Freus, remarking that he would not care to have Mrs. Preus serve on a jury under conditions similar to those experienced by the mixed jury last week, said he would seek to have the law clarified to make separation of mixed juries at night mandatory.

"MASQUE OF PANDORA" TO BE STAGED AT ODEON TONIGHT

Longfellow's Work Will Be Presented for Benefit of Choral Club's Scholarship Fund.

There are choruses of birds, winds, waters and reeds, solo, duets, trios and quartets and stately Greek dances. The costumes are designed by Miss Marguerite Breen.

The poem is based on the ancient Greek legend of the inquisitive Pandora.

Once each year the Morning Choral Club gives a benefit for the scholarship fund, which is used to aid young singers.

The executors are authorized to retain the Carter pew in St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church and to pay therefor $500 a year and also to pay to that church annually $150 for missionary purposes. The church payments are to continue during the life of Mrs. Carter as well as during the administration period.

When the estate is turned over to the trustee the income is to be distributed as follows: To Mrs. Mary Carter $3500 quarterly during the life of his mother and after her death $2000; Joseph Lupton $150 quarterly during the life of his sister, Mrs. Carter; Mrs. Nellie Crouch Carter $250 quarterly, and final payments in two sums totaling $5000 after the death of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Carter. Any excess income is to be divided among the three children.

Mausoleum Ordered Erected. Carter directed the executors to have erected a mausoleum on his lot in Bellefontaine Cemetery, in keeping with other mausoleums located near the lot. It is to be erected within two years after his death. Provision is made for maintenance of the mausoleum and also for expenses incident to the keeping of the body of testator's son, Thomas W. Carter, Jr., in the receiving vault in Bellefontaine. This son was killed in an automobile accident two years ago.

The will was made May 14, 1921. Mrs. Carter and her two sons are appointed executors.

PLANS TO REVIVE HAWAIIAN RACE

Families and Individuals Who Go to Molokai to Get 20 Acres.

HONOLULU, T. H., March 10.—Each of the Hawaiian families or individuals who go to the island of Molokai next year under the plan for the rehabilitation of the dying Hawaiian race will be given at least a 20-acre tract of land, under plans of Jorgen Jorgensen, engineer, for the Hawaiian Homes Commission which is directing the project, he has announced.

George P. Cooke, executive secretary of the commission, said that if the 20-acre tracts were found to be insufficient, the settlers undoubtedly would be allowed additional land upon which to raise produce to sustain themselves away from the cities, residence in which has been regarded as having a deleterious effect upon the health and well-being of the Hawaiians.

16 MERCHANTS DECLARE MAN SOLD THEM 'EXCLUSIVE AGENCY'

They Charge 68-Year-Old Prisoner
Got Money for Selling Right that Didn't Exist.

Sixteen merchants, each of whom claims to have paid money for an exclusive agency that did not exist, have filed complaints against a man 68 years old, who is held at the Carondelet Police Station, and many more merchants have announced their intention of aiding in his prosecution, but the man merely shakes his head in a defiant way and insists that he has done nothing for which to be prosecuted. The merchants paid amounts ranging from $5.75 to $11.40.

Merchants assert that the prisoner, representing himself as a field man for the National Publishers' Syndicate, 432 Broadway, New York, offered them exclusive agencies for periodicals and promised to furnish them with wrapping paper bearing an advertisement of their business. All he wanted, he told them, was money to cover postage for mailing the first shipment of magazines and wrapping paper. He said the money would be refunded as soon as the magazines had been sold. Each merchant said he understood that he was to have an exclusive agency in his neighborhood, but they later learned that neighboring merchants had also been sold "exclusive agencies."

The prisoner, who says he is George F. Reynon of New York, staying at 1407 Olive street, told the police that he had been engaged by a man named Moore and that if there was any fraud in the scheme he is innocent. The police say that several letters sent from St. Louis to the National Publishers' Syndicate at the New York address have been returned by the postal authorities marked "no such concern at address named."

SHORTAGE OF $82,000 IN OKLAHOMA BANK ANNOUNCED

Part of Records of Closed Sulphur
Institution Also Said to Be Missing.

By the Associated Press.
SULPHUR, Ok., March 19.—A shortage of $82,000 in the accounts of the closed Bank of Commerce of this city and the fact that part of the records are missing were announced here today in a signed statement issued by John Knox, State Bank Examiner, who has been checking the bank's affairs. The shortage had been carried on the books of the bank several months and was concealed by cross entries, the statement said.

W. H. (Pat) Riley, Mayor of Sulphur, who was charged with embezzlement of $27,000 in connection with the bank's closing, was bound over to the District Court late yesterday on a $10,000 bond after a preliminary hearing. Charles A. Bryan, active vice president of the bank, was found dead in a barn at the rear of his residence Feb. 25 after a warrant for his arrest had been served on him in connection with the suspension of the bank's business. The Bank of Commerce is a member of the State banking system.

GIRL ALLEGES LOSS OF VOICE

Miss Jennie Weissman Seeks $40,000
Damages From U. R.

Speaking in whispers, because, she alleges, injuries which she received in a street car collision caused her at frequent intervals to almost lose her voice, Miss Jennie Weissman, 22 years old, of 4622 Newbury terrace, yesterday testified in Circuit Judge Davis' court to injuries she says she received August 10, 1919, when the Page avenue car in which she was riding was struck from the rear by another Page car at Hamilton and Eitel avenues. She is suing the United Railways for $40,000.

Miss Weissman, who was thrown from her seat by the accident, says that besides sustaining injuries to her back at the time, she has found her voice impaired, usually for a month each time, about every six weeks. Once, she testified, her voice was almost gone for 14 weeks. She also suffers from insomnia and is extremely nervous, she declared. Most of her testimony was repeated to the jury by a sister.

Protests Against 4-State
Proposal to Secretary
Davis.

By the Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 10.
—Hope of a nationwide coal strike being averted by the Government's appeal for the operators and miners meeting in a wage conference, seemed to have vanished today
among officers of the United Mine Workers of America, because of the continued refusal of some operators to meet with the miners to negotiate an interstate wage agreement.
Union officers refrained from any announcement on their future plans, but it was indicated the policy committee might be called into session before April 1 to deal with all questions relating to the prospective strike.

The union officers were optimistic that public opinion would be with them in the controversy with the mine owners.

"The insurgent movement of Illinois miners is not yet viewed with alarm by the union officers here and they continue to make the assertion that no single wage agreement will be made by any district.
"Ready to Meet Operators."

A statement was issued by President Lewis of the Mine Workers saying:

"The statement issued by Secretary of Labor Davis today, fully sustains the position of the United Mine Workers of America that the coal operators of the central competitive field are morally bound to meet with the miners in a joint conference for the purpose of negotiating a new wage agreement.
"The operators agreed, in writing,
in New York, on March 31, 1920, that they would meet with the miners prior to April 1, 1922, for this purpose. We have all along contended that they were bound by this agreement, and that their refusal to enter into such negotiations was a direct violation of their contract. I wish to assure Secretary Davis that the United Mine Workers of America have been ready and now are ready to meet with the operators at any time and place to negotiate a new agreement that will avert suspension of operations in the coal industry, stabilize the coal business, and avoid any inconvenience to the public."

Kanawha Coal Operators Send Protest to Secretary Davis.

By the Associated Press.
CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 10.
—The Kanawha Coal Operators' Association has sent a telegram to Secretary of Labor Davis at Washington, saying the employers "want to protest most earnestly against the establishment of our wage rates being based upon the four competitive states or any other state."
The telegram says the "coal mined

In this district is sold in competition with coal from nonunion mines and we feel our rates must consider this competition and the earning power of our men rather than the rates made from some other field."

Pittsburgh Producers Reiterate Refusal to Meet Miners.

By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, March 10.—The Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association, whose members employ the 45,000 union miners in the Western Pennsylvania bituminous field, yesterday reiterated their determination not to meet the United Mine Workers of America and the operators of the competitive field to fix a new wage scale for Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. A statement given out by the association said:

"Our decision has been reached.
We will deal with our own men in Western Pennsylvania, union or nonunion, on a working agreement with the exception of the check off, but we will not be a party to a scale for Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Our decision is irrevocable."

Labor Secretary Sends Appeal to Operators and Miners.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 10.—Secretary of Labor Davis yesterday urged mine operators and the miners' union
"in the name of common sense to get together and save the country from the costly results of a strike."

The Government has "no desire to interfere unduly," he announced, but
"has a duty to safeguard the interests of the people who will be seriously affected by the suspension of coal mining."

The department's agents have been assured that miners' locals in nearly all districts throughout the union fields are "overwhelmingly voting to strike April 1."

English Scientist Declares Boll-Weevil Will Almost End Crop in Within Five Years.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World from the Manchester Guardian.

LONDON, March 10.—That owing to the ravages of the boll weevil, there would be almost no cotton grown in the United States within five years was the startling assertion made in a lecture at the Royal Institute yesterday afternoon by Prof. Maxwell Leitch of the Imperial College of Science.

He said that one reason the boll weevil was devastating the American cotton country was that Americans had cleared the forest and planted cotton so rapidly that nature had not had time to establish her usual balance.

As a result, he said, the boll weevil in America is virtually free from enemies. Another cause, he said, was that normally cotton grew from April to October, which gave a very limited time for the boll weevil to flourish.

Now, however, he asserted, the Americans, in providing a more continuous cotton crop, are enormously increasing the life span of the boll weevil. He said that he regarded American cotton as doomed.

WOMAN DIES FROM INJURIES
IN FALL FROM WINDOW

She Tried to Climb From Window to Window to Get to Room That Was Locked.

Mrs. Anna Tinsley, 42 years old, of 1026 South Eighth st., died at the city hospital yesterday from injuries suffered last Sunday when she fell 18 feet from a second-story window in her home to the yard. She was trying to climb from the bathroom window into the adjacent window of her bedroom, she explained, because the door of her room was locked.

She said that she had often climbed from one window to the other, but missed her footing this time. She suffered a compound fracture of the left arm, internal and other injuries.

Any Time is COFFEE-time

MEAL time, work time, play time—any time is Coffee-time! It's indispensable at breakfast. It's good at dinner. A homely sandwich and a piece of pie become a satisfying luncheon when you add a steaming cup of Coffee.

Between meals—in mid-afternoon, perhaps, when mind and body begin to lag just a trifle—at the Coffee House or soda fountain on the way home from the movies or theater—when one entertains at home—or in the club house after a stirring round of golf or an exhausting tennis match.

Whatever the occasion, the hour or the place—Coffee! No other beverage pleases so many millions of people all the time.

HOOPER BEING SWAMPED WITH REQUESTS FOR LAW OPINIONS

Secretary Explains Placing Interpretation on Sherman Anti-Trust Act in Outside Department.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 10.—Hundreds of letters asking for an interpretation of the Sherman anti-trust act are reaching the Commerce Department as a result, officials said last night, of correspondence between Secretary Hoover and Attorney-General Daugherty on the subject of trade association activities, made public recently.

"The Department of Commerce makes no interpretation of the Sherman act," Hoover said. "It does have to decide in what sort of association work it can rightly co-operate. The department does not find a basis of co-operation with the so-called open price association and never has."

Beginning his business career as a woodenware salesman, the late Charles L. Martin, by hard work and diligent study of his business, forced his way up in the business world until at his death, Feb. 8, he was vice president of the Crunden-Martin Manufacturing Co., and had an estate valued at $501,299.62 in an inventory.

The value of the estate will be found greater than is set forth in the inventory, however, because of the increased worth of some stocks Martin held.

Joined Firm in 1890.
At the time he was a salesman, Martin was with the Cupples Woodenware Co. Later, he was appointed buyer for the firm, because of his knowledge of markets and his ability to drive a bargain. It was after this, in 1890, that Martin joined Frank P. Crunden and the Crunden-Martin Woodenware Manufacturing Co. was formed, with capitalization of $100,000. The present capitalization is $1,200,000.

Nine hundred and three shares of common stock in the Crunden-Martin firm are valued at $90,300 in the inventory of Martin's estate. This is based on the par value of $100 a share. Several months ago bids of $300 were made for this stock. On this basis, the common stock listed in the inventory would be worth $270,900. There would not be any considerable increase in the value of the preferred stock, $96 shares of which Martin held. This stock was valued at $39,600.

Large Dividends Paid.
Crunden said Martin's original investment in the firm had been $30,000. Within the last six months dividends on the stocks have amounted to more than this. A 20 per cent stock dividend on the common stock was declared last week.
The bulk of Martin's estate was left to his widow, Mrs. Eleanor Martin; a son, Leonard Martin, and a daughter, Miss Eleanor Martin. Martin was 64 years old. He resided at 30 Jay avenue, Webster Grove.

Found Guilty of Embezzlement.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 10.—Marie R. Inke, charged with the embezzlement of $12,500 from the Franklin Park (Ill.) Postoffice two years ago, was found guilty by a jury in Federal Court here yesterday.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

said, has considered entering this field since 1905.
FIRE APPARATUS.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—The City of Philadelphia is preparing to spend $350,000 in modernizing the equipment of the Fire Department. Practically all the equipment will be motorized.

KITCHEN UTENSILS.
DETROIT, Mich.—A recently organized kitchen utensils company here has made large purchases of imported metal in the last few weeks.

EGGS.
SEATTLE, Wash.—There is an over-production of eggs here. Prices have fallen until producers are getting only from 22 to 26 cents. Retailers are paying jobbers 35 cents.

COPPER.
LONDON.—The demand for copper in the United Kingdom has not broadened to any appreciable extent recently and continental buying also is restricted.

OIL.
MONROE, La.—The first plant of the Standard Oil Co. of Louisiana, which will manufacture gasoline from the "wet gas" produced in the Eldorado field, will be placed in operation in the next few days at the Hinton lease in Union County, Ark. A second plant on the Terry-Sumnerfield lease will be completed in six to eight weeks.

CARPETS.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—High grade rugs, as well as cheaper grades of floor coverings are in good demand, according to carpet manufacturers here.

IRON AND STEEL.
YOUNGSTOWN, O.—The Trumbull, Liberty, Newton and A. M. Byers steel mills in this district are all running at 100 per cent capacity this week. The Carnegie Steel Co. plants at McDonald also are working full crews.

LONDON.—Practically all the limited output of pig iron in Great Britain at present is going into consumption. Prices are firm and inclined to advance in reflection of the increased cost of coke which has been in strong demand on the continent.

BUILDING MATERIALS.
PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Bookings of building material orders in the last 30 days are estimated to have been twice as large as in the corresponding period last year.

WATCHES.
TRENTON, N. J.—It is expected the sale of the assets of the Robert H. Ingersoll and Bros., to the Waterbury Clock Co. will result shortly in renewed activity at the Ingersoll watch factory here, which has a capacity of 8000 watches a week.

NEW YORK.—There has been a movement here among buyers of cotton goods to induce the mills and converters to ship certain goods "on memo" to help stimulate demand. This has found little response from manufacturers.

Burke Candidate Against Pepper.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 10.—William J. Burke, Republican, of Pittsburgh, serving his second term in the House as a Representative-at-large from Pennsylvania, yesterday announced his candidacy for the Senate "in opposition to Senator Pepper," who was appointed to the Senate to serve until a successor to the late Senator Penrose could be selected at the polls next November. Pepper has as yet made no formal announcement as to whether he will be a candidate.

DYER GIVES JAIL TERM IN TWO "WET" CASES

Federal Judge, Acting for His Colleague, Departs From His Announced Policy.

Federal Judge Dyer's announced policy to clear the docket of the cases of first offenders against the Volstead law by fining them, when they plead guilty, did not prevent him from sentencing to jail yesterday two men who pleaded "not guilty," and who later were convicted by juries. Judge Farris, whose place Judge Dyer was taking, has the policy of sending bootleggers to jail. On days when Judge Dyer has been on the bench, as is known, there have been rushes of bootleggers and moonshiners to plead guilty. The two men yesterday tried their luck by the jury route, just for a change, but Judge Dyer told the jurors in one case:

"You have taken oath to enforce the law. Lay aside any personal feeling you may have about this law and fulfill that oath. It is not for you or the Court to say whether the law is wise or unwise, but I want to tell you that the sooner these people begin to obey it the better off the community will be."

Stays Fine for Boy.
That was in the case of Tony Dismone of 4038 Page boulevard, who was sentenced by Judge Dyer to six months in the St. Charles jail. His 15-year-old son, Salvatore, was jointly charged with him with the sale of whiskey to policemen last September. The Judge fined Salvatore $1 and stayed the fine, because he held that the father controlled the son's action.

A Wesley, a negro witness for Dismone, was arrested in court on a bench warrant charging him with perjury, because his statements were contradictory to those of policemen. Alphonse Link, proprietor of a roadhouse on the Manchester road, St. Louis County, known as "the chicken farm," was the other man tried by jury. He was sentenced to three months in jail and fined $200 for violating the Volstead law.

Pleads Guilty; Gets 10 Days.
Leon Zembrzinski of 1502 Blair avenue, charged with making "moonshine" whiskey, stuck to the custom-honored plea of guilty. He was surprised when he received a 10-day jail sentence instead of a fine. The Judge had this to say in his case:

"Most of that trouble under this law comes from foreigners. The time is near when Congress will have to do something to regulate the coming of these people into the country. Decent men should be sent to Congress, who will pass laws to keep these people out of this country. The fear of losing a vote too often stifles the best interests of the country."

Mention of events or places during trial of cases frequently arouses Judge Dyer to reminiscence, often to the profit of the defendant. John Ruhwedel, who was a waiter in the National Cafe at 117 North Sixth street on Christmas day, 1920, pleaded guilty today to the sale of a half pint of whiskey. He said he had gone to work in the cafe the day before and was fired the following day for refusal to sell more whiskey. "I went back to the farm," he said. "Where is the farm?" the Judge inquired.

"Warren County."
"At Foristell," Ruhwedel replied. Remember the Old Mill. "My, my, my," the Judge said. "I used to go to the mill there when I was a boy."
After a bit he continued: "Did you make any profit out of that whiskey?" "None," Ruhwedel replied. "Fifty dollars," the Judge said, a fine smaller than he commonly imposes. Mike Noonan, bartender at Leonard avenue and Locust street, last September, was fined $100 for selling liquor.

Confession Is Repudiated.
By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 10.—Hugh C. French, who on Wednesday signed a "confession" stating that he killed O. V. Dodge, wealthy insurance man, here, Jan. 7, 1921, late yesterday repudiated his confession and said he had never been near the Dodge home. He asserted that he "confessed" because he wanted to avoid going to trial on a charge of assault with intent to kill pending against him.

INFLUENZA CHEST COLDS

Yields Quickly to
New Oil Treatment

Many are finding relief from influenza, colds, and perhaps preventing pneumonia. It is said, by use of new oil treatment, which contains Coal Oil, Turpentine, Camphor, Oil of Eucalyptus, Oil of Cloves, Capsicum, Oil of Origanum and other valuable oils, put up under the name of Miller's Antiseptic Oil (known as Snake Oil).

Its great penetrating, pain-relieving qualities insure almost instant relief when applied freely on the chest or throat well greased with Krou-Monia Salve when first symptoms arise. This oil penetrates through the affected parts making breathing more easy. Rubbing the Salve on the chest and throat a few drops on a little sugar usually brings relief. When the attack comes on, and if used according to directions, results are secured, or your money refunded. On sale at Water-Wilson and Ender's at 60c and $1.00 bottles.

The Foundation of Every Prosperous Business

RECENTLY the Chicago Journal of Commerce in an editorial discussion of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) as an example of modern American business, said:

"Three years ago the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), which does business in eleven states, adopted a wholesome publicity policy, not only to derive the natural benefits of advertising its products, but to acquaint the public with intimate information regarding the Company and its affairs. The fair dealing, justice and equity of its practices, the business principles which rule its conduct, have been published far and wide throughout the territory it serves. Its policies were frankly disclosed to promote the welfare and to secure and hold the confidence and esteem of its stockholders, employees, and the public. The Company has paid for this publicity service just as any other industrial or mercantile enterprise pays for its advertising, and with most gratifying results."

"This publicity campaign has been dubbed 'Good-Will advertising'—a happy phrase. Good-Will is the foundation of every prosperous business. Good-Will always contributes to profits and can be secured only by fair dealing, fair prices, and a rigid adherence to business ethics. In all these the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a model of efficiency."

THIS appreciation of the purposes, practices, and achievements of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) so clearly expressed in the above quoted editorial is most gratifying to the Board of Directors of this Company, for it confirms their conviction that understanding and fairness go together. You cannot be fair unless you understand. You cannot understand unless you are willing to be fair.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is performing a highly essential service in a highly specialized branch of industry. It is doing something that has to be done in a way that entitles it to the approval of the public it serves.

It is to the interest of the public as well as the Company that the Company should give a frank account of itself and of the stewardship of its seven Directors. Hence this sustained campaign.

The British Lion's Restless Brood

Restless to realize all the blessings of their united greatness and their individual equality—a restlessness of growth and readjustment, transforming a vast Empire into a world-wide Commonwealth of Free Nations. When did this great change begin? How was America responsible for its beginning? In what way did Canada hasten it? And Ireland? By what steps and through what difficulties is the process continuing? What important steps remain to be taken? Shall America hinder or help?

Canada, the Land of Potentialities

How does Canada compare with the ancient Roman Empire? With the British Isles? With the United States? How may Canada determine the future destiny of the world commonwealth of Greater Britain? Under what circumstances did the close friendship between the United States and Canada begin, and what is its special significance? How have the physical characteristics of Canada affected the development of her national life? What are the fabulous natural resources of the Dominion?

"Old Ireland" the New

When and how did the "rebirth of the Gael" begin, and how did it result in the Irish Free State? What was at the root of Ireland's trouble with England? What is the "peculiar cultural and spiritual ancestry" of the Irish people? What is the Irish attitude toward death? What was the Irish Republican Army really like; and what are the facts from both points of view regarding the Sinn Féin? Of what importance is the Irish Free State as an economic factor in the world? What is the effect of the new Agreement on Ulster?

India, Seething With Unrest

Will India break away from the British Commonwealth and become an independent Moslem state; will the Mohammedans restore the Sultan of Turkey to his former power; or will India remain as a dazzling jewel in the British crown? What is the wonderful story of this land of extremes, this home of one of the oldest civilizations in history—this "motherland of religion"? What are the most marked causes of the great unrest and discontent?

America's Attitude Toward Great Britain

Why have some papers been declaring that war between America and Great Britain "is inevitable," while others insist that we are "entering an era of more friendly relations than ever"? What is the prevailing American opinion, and upon what is it based? Should the United States "share with Great Britain the burdens of the world as a whole"? How will the rivalry between the British Commonwealth and the American Commonwealth for world trade be carried on, and with what result?

THE BIG STORY OF A GIANT EMPIRE CHANGING TO A DEMOCRATIC COMMONWEALTH

Told in the Special British Commonwealth Number of the Literary Digest

OUT TODAY

Bases of British Strength

With all its wealth, natural resources, financial strength, and means of defense on land and sea, how is England kept from starving? How are products of the British Empire related to the life of the rest of the world? How is British naval supremacy affected by the Washington agreement? Where have the sons of Britain been going for the past 200 years, and with what effect upon the motherland?

British Character, Culture and Life

From what "hated enemy" is the dominant strain of English blood traced? What are the natural characteristics of the people and their attitude toward war? What is their notion of private rights, and how does it affect their government? What contradictory things are found in their character and temper, and what general principle accounts for them? How is the growth of democracy changing the British people?

Egypt Under the British Regime

What modern wonders in Egypt compare, for greatness, with the ancient pyramids and the ruins of Luxor? What has Britain been doing for the last forty years in Lower Egypt and along the Upper Nile? How has Egypt developed; what is the present condition of her people, and when did the new Egyptian "nationalist movement" become militant?

Australia, the Real Land of the Golden Fleece

The oldest continent on earth; larger than the United States; nearly as big as all Europe; a land of wonders and mysteries; surpassing all peoples in the world in per capita wealth and productive power; ninety-seven per cent of her people of pure British descent; a laboratory of political experiments—what is the relation of Australia to the British Crown, how is the country governed, what are her political problems, and what is her place in the economic program of the world?

New Zealand First

Did you know that New Zealand was the first country in the world to make compulsory the conciliation and arbitration of industrial disputes? That it was the first country to establish universal penny postage, state fire insurance, state maternity homes, non-contributing old-age pensions, and many other social and economic reforms? Do you want to know all about this remarkable country of which Bryce declares that "nowhere is the level of comfort higher; there are no millionaires, very few rich persons, and no class of people is sunk anywhere near to the margin of subsistence."

Changing Tides in South Africa

What marvelous transformation in South Africa has brought about "one of the most dramatic chapters in the modern history of the British Empire"? What caused the Boers, who fought against the British in 1900, to fight for the British in 1915? How did the Union of South Africa become possible, and what claim has it to distinction as "the only real democracy in the world today"? Why is the color problem "the most serious question before the people of South Africa"? What is the thrilling and picturesque story of the taking and making of Rhodesia?

British Power in the West Indies

What special American significance has been found in the fact that this chain of islands flanks the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean Sea? What are the social, industrial, political, and commercial characteristics and possibilities of these groups of several thousand islands? Is there a probability of an Imperial Federation of the Caribbean Colonies under the leadership of Jamaica?

Jackson Harder to Beat Than Leonard, Charlie White Says

Lightweight Challenger, However, Who Completely Outclassed
Jackson, Was Knocked Out by Champion in Ninth Round at Benton Harbor.

By Robert Edgren.

(Copyright, 1922.)

Charlie White, Chicago lightweight, has some original ideas about boxing.

"I can beat Benny Leonard for the old title easier than I did Willie Jackson," argues White, which right away proves Charles parks unusual ideas inside his hat band.

"Leonard," says White, "is pretty much a regulation boxer. He does about everything in time-table order, hooks, jabs, crosses. Once an opponent solves Benny's style he knows about what to expect. It isn't necessary to be on the watch looking for something out of the ordinary. The champion is seldom different.

"Jackson is the other extreme. He is tough and dangerous all the time because he takes up his attack.

Jackson depends mostly on his right hand. I knew that before entering the ring, but I soon discovered I couldn't figure just how he'd use his right. For eight rounds at the Garden I studied Jackson closely and even then wasn't thoroughly familiar with his awkward methods. In my opinion a boxer like Jackson is harder to stop than one like Leonard with his regulation style."

Will's Hand X-Rayed to Determine Whether He Broke It on Norfolk

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 10.

HARRY WILLS, the negro heavyweight, who is seeking in his quiet way a bout with Jack Dempsy, injured his right hand so badly in knocking out Kid Norfolk a week ago, that under the advice of his physician he went to Bellevue Hospital, yesterday, to have an X-ray picture made, for the purpose of finding out whether or not a bone was broken. The report on what the X-ray shows will not be ready until Monday.

This is not the first time that the big negro has had trouble with his right hand, and he is fearful that an old injury may have been aggravated.

White's peculiar deductions. He outclassed Jackson in their recent session in the Garden, scoring a clean knockdown. It was one of the few times in his long career that Jackson had been felled.

Near a Victory in Benton Harbor.

The Windy City star failed to fathom Leonard's supposedly easy style the last time the two clashed at Benton Harbor. On that occasion White was knocked out in the ninth round. This is how he explains that defeat.

"I had Leonard on the run for nearly eight rounds," declares White.
"I knocked him out of the ring in the fifth and was about to finish the champion in the ninth when Leonard hit me on the breakaway. This put me out for the count. We had agreed to fight with clean breaks and I wasn't expecting anything when coming out of clinches. Leonard disregarded our agreement."

White has improved considerably, since his last fight with the lightweight title holder. He has developed his right to the point where it is now a wicked instrument. Until recently the Westerner did all the heavy work with his left. Because of this he was known as Left Hook Charlie. Now he's a strong two-fisted fighter, a formidable opponent for Leonard.

White and Leonard were originally scheduled for the Garden on March 17, but the bout has been postponed, perhaps, to the opening of the outdoor season, when the scrap will attract a much bigger "gate" than the Garden would hold.

For 14 years, White's been performing in the ring, but he doesn't think he should be called a veteran.
"I've only had 137 bouts in all my career," argues Charlie, "while Dundee and some other guys have answered the bell at least 500 times.
Their hands are all busted up, while mine are as good as new."

And White proudly exhibited a pair of strong, unmarked mitts with which he expects to take away Leonard's lightweight championship.

STOCK MARKET

Bonds Are Steady—Call Money Declines to 3 1/2 Per Cent—Sterling Exchange Slightly Lower.

By Leased Wire From the New York

Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"More consistent condition was disclosed by today's trading, especially in the upward trend of the stock market. Stocks were distinctly firm, with a few exceptions, especially the lower-priced issues. Toward the close fractional advances predominated but there were numerous calls of better than one point. Bonds also were steady and call money, after opening at 4 per cent, declined to 3 1/2 per cent at the middle of the day."

Sterling Exchange Lower.

"Early prices were again the low ones in the foreign exchange market. The pound sterling declined to 24.54, but by afternoon recovered to 24.52, at which price the net loss on the pound was half a cent. French francs showed less rallying power and lost 1/4 point at 8.96. German marks, on the other hand, fell well during the morning and then broke to 6.37. After recovering 1/4 of a point the net loss was 1 1/2 points. The other continental currencies were generally lower, the feature being a 40-point loss in Norwegian kroner following yesterday's 20-point gain. Taken altogether, however, the undertone in the European market continued firm. Canadian dollars added slightly to their previous recovery in selling for 96 1/2 cts, but most of the South American exchanges today were lower. Argentine pesos losing 1/2 cts at 36 1/2 cts."

The heavy liquidation which marked yesterday's market continued today, but the selling was much less aggressive and a few stop loss orders were encountered. After May had declined to 31.54, in fact, a good rally set in, which more than made good the early losses. As a result, at 31.57, May commenced a 1 1/2 cts advance over previous close. Better export business was reported overnight and this offset reports of a better crop outlook from the Southwest. Cotton was firm in sympathy with Liverpool and in response to heavy rains in the South. The May future advanced 12 points to 18.20 cts."

Federal Reserve Ratio Up.

"A gain of slightly more than 1 per cent in the reserve ratio of the combined Federal reserve system, consistent with a gain of $145,000,000 in gold holdings and a reduction of nearly three times that amount in currency liabilities. The interesting feature of the statement is that all the regional banks improved their ratios except those at San Francisco and Kansas City. The loss at the latter center was particularly sharp, the ratio declining from 66.1 per cent to 64.5 per cent. The loss in gold reserves reported by this bank amounted to $10,000,000."

The Investment Market.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The bond market retained all of its recent irregularity in the first half of the day's session. Liberty and Victory issues held around yesterday's final prices on smaller issues. The industrial and industrial showed confusing gains and losses. Denver & Rio Grande is Chicago Railway for New York Railway. Cuba Cane Sugar and Danfoss 5s were 1 to 2 points better, many of the minor rails rising fractionally. American foreign loans, Belgian 7s and Chinese Railway 5s were firm, but Tokyo 5s and Mexican 5s and 6s were distinctly lower. Dominion of Canada 1922 and Dominion of Canada 1922 also eased. Victoria 4 1/2s established a new high price at $100.00 later and were strengthened on the active demand for Great Northern 7s and New York Central debenture 6s.

St. Louis, We Thank You!

The response to our opening yesterday was overwhelming. From every side we heard nothing but the highest praise, not only on the beauty and grandeur of our store, but on the exceptional values that we are offering. Our first day's business here exceeded our highest expectations, and established what we believe to be a record for events of this kind. But of far greater significance to us is the fact that you have put the stamp of approval upon our store, upon our merchandise, upon our methods and upon our values, for St. Louis has been well schooled to demand quality, to know style and to recognize genuine buying opportunities.

And our pledge to you, the basis upon which we hope to merit the continuance of your patronage, is in the service and satisfaction that Golde Clothes will give you; in the assurance that you can have your money back at any time; in the confidence that you are getting the greatest money's worth it is possible for any firm to give.

Fully demonstrating this policy is our special offering of

A satisfied customer means more to us than a sale.

Can you imagine the expenditure of money that a pound of French coffee costs? Not so many cups of coffee as you can get from a pound of French coffee.

Ordinary coffee is the greater enemy of your pocket than the French coffee is. It is the French coffee that is the real bargain. It is the French coffee that is the real bargain. It is the French coffee that is the real bargain.

KROGER'S

The Heart of a Girl

A Story of Romance and a Business Career in St. Louis
By Caroline Crawford

PEGGY'S PARTY.

SATURDAY morning Peggy received a wire from Billy which made her heart beat twice as fast as usual. As she was leaving her apartment for business a messenger rushed up to her and handed her her first telegram. Old age suspects death and is frightened at the sight of a yellow envelope, but youth laughs and knows the message is borne on the wings of love and love.

"Will be at your party tonight," "BILLY."

Those few words sent Peggy skipping to her street car with a merry heart. All the way downtown she hummed bits of popular tunes of the season as she read her paper and planned the evening's program.

She had invited Percy Peterson, Jack Reed, Marion Minton and her cousin, Bella. Now everything was perfect and she and Billy would make it an even six.

Saturday is a day to rush through work and leave on the stroke of 12. Peggy usually watched the other stenographers rush off like fire engines, but she staidly back for a half hour or so to see if, by chance, the boss wanted some extra work done. She had been told that the business girl who gets ahead does not watch the clock, but today she left on the minute of 12. She went to do some shopping to go to the grocer's, to select the cheese for her rarebit and do a million and one things.

By 8 o'clock she had transformed the kitchenette and dining room into a combination of tea room and imitation restaurant. The victrola had been transported from the living room to the dining room, every fern and palm her mother owned had its place in some corner or upon some stand. The rug in the dining room had been rolled and a gate-legged table folded into a tea table at one corner of the room, where the "supper" would be served. Six large blue-and-white bungalow aprons awaited the guests.

"Every girl in town will be imitating you, Peggy," declared Marion and her cousin, Bella. "Really this is the most original idea, my dear. How DID you ever think of it?"

Peggy was still adding the finishing touches and just a bit annoyed that Marion had arrived so early. She had planned to snatch a few moments with Billy before the other guests arrived—8:30 or even 9 would have been much better taste to arrive, she felt.

"Jack Reed won't be here for at least half an hour," she announced as she busied herself in arranging some carnations for the table.

HOUSEWIFE'S SCRAPBOOK

COLD meat will not be tough when reheated if it is not allowed to cook. Heat the gravy, then set on back of range or in the oven. Put thin slices of meat into this and let it stand a few minutes before serving, but be careful that it does not cook. Cold roast beef prepared in this manner is delicious.

When cream refuses to whip add the unbeaten white of an egg. This usually works admirably.

After-Dinner Tricks

No. 55—The Man Who Met His Match.

A CLEVER little trick with matches is to arrange a number of them in the design shown above. Many guesses will be made by the spectators while the figure is being formed, but when completed it will be an excellent representation of the ex-Kaiser—"The Man Who Met His Match!"

Copyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Company.

LITTLE ECONOMIES

DO not throw away the sour milk. Delicious cookies, cakes, biscuits and pancakes can be made with it.

The water in which vegetables are cooked should not be thrown away. The chief nutriment of the vegetable is contained in this water and it will form the basis for an excellent soup.

The dark straw hat you wore last year can be made to look like new if you brush it well and then apply diluted vinegar.

Slices of bread left after a meal should not be left to dry and then thrown away. Carefully lay them against the loaf and wrap up well before putting into bread box. If not desirable for table use at next meal. They will do nicely for toast.

"A delightful place in which to shop."

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

(One of a series of short funny stories by the celebrated American humorist which appear daily in the Post-Dispatch on this page.)

CONFUSING GEOGRAPHY.

YEARS ago, when I earned my daily bread and occasional beer on Park Row, one Andy Horn ran a cozy bar in the shadow of Brooklyn Bridge. All sorts and conditions of men frequented the saloon—sailors, newspaper men, rich men, poor men, policemen off duty, artists and commuters from over the river.

A grubby person known as Smitty was a fixture at Andy's. He cut up food for the free lunch counter, did odd jobs and in rush hours helped to serve the trade. Smitty was to Manhattan what a cockney is to London.

He had been born on Cherry Hill, right around the corner; he had been reared on the Bowery and he had never ranged further than Coney Island or Far Rockaway. Greater New York City was all the world he knew or cared to know.

His sister married a German market gardener over in New Jersey, and when his summertime vacation came Smitty went to visit her for two weeks. His new brother-in-law had bought a car and had promised to tour Smitty about over the State and show him the sights.

At the end of a week Smitty was back at work. One of the regular patrons hailed him:

"Hey, Smitty, I thought you were going to stay longer. Didn't you care for country life?"

"Nix on dat stuff for me," said Smitty. "I'm offen it fur life. Say, dat Jersey soltingly is one funny place. Why, all dem towns over there is got different names!"

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER.

(A burglar arrested in Brooklyn had just completed a correspondence school course in safe opening.)

Time was when a burglar expected
To loot heather largely nor long.
For thieving was often detected
And jails were uncommonly strong.
He took little trouble in gaining
His simple burglarious skill;
No need for technical training
To rob a mere grocery store till.

But now that his knavish profession,
If his jimmy he craftily plies,
May well put him into possession
Of sums of considerable size,
A hunger for learning has fired
His stolid and bygone heart.
For fortunes are only acquired
By thugs who have mastered their art.

By day, with his low-visaged buddy,
He bends over burglary books,
And puzzles out courses of study
Designed for enlightened crooks.
He reads useful pages devoted
To showing how crits can be cracked,
Now watchmen may best be garroted
And safes most successfully sacked.

Then, stocked with these treasures of learning,
He goes to his nocturnal task,
And finds little trouble in earning
As much as a man ought to ask.
For knowledge is useful in stealing—
Trained burglars earn far bigger pay;
The dollar in criminal dealing
Stands mighty poor chances today.
